NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 3.—"The outcome of the battle at Silesia has now checked this second stage on the German campaign.

OPERATIONS IN GALICIA.

The strength of the Russian position is indicated by the continuance of their operations in Galicia. They showed in the earlier German advance to the Vistula they would not hesitate to abandon any conquest if necessary to return to concentrate troops at the vital point. Instead of drawing in the army from Cracow to check the German invasion, the Russians have concentrated to make progress in Galicia and have advanced to within ten miles of Cracow.

The Austrian capture of Belgrade and of Kosovsitz, eleven miles north of Virovitz, shows a gain on both flanks of the line in the direction of the object is now to push forward their left wing to capture the lower valley of the Morava where the direct connections with Hungary would simplify the maintenance of their armies.

The advantage to the Germans of their large scale maneuvers in peace times in training their officers for command shows up plainly in the movements by which the army of Gen. Von Mackensen has taken a position in a dangerous position east of Lodz. When the Russian center struck northward along the Ner River against the rear of the German army the chances seemed to favor their success in the opinion of the German general.

On the contrary, the Germans stopped this threatening move along the line between Zgierz and Seradz, and by a rapid withdrawal from their advanced position, strengthened and strengthened their line. From Silesia to the Vistula River west of Plock they now hold a bow shaped line well placed for reinforcing any threatened point.

British Official Observer Describes Progress.

Admits Germans Still Keep up Fierce Assaults.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
LONDON, Dec. 3.—Col. E. D. Swinton of the intelligence department of the General Staff of the British expeditionary force in France and Belgium, in a narrative dated November 24, gives a general review of the development of the situation of the forces for six weeks preceding that date.

Col. Swinton concludes with the statement that as the war is going to be one of exhaustion after the regular armies of the belligerents have done their work, it will be upon the raw material of the countries concerned that final success will depend.

There has recently been a lull in the active operations, he says. No progress has been made by either side, and yet there has come about an important modification comprising a readjustment in the scope of the part played by the British army as a whole. He explains that movement from the River Aisne to the Belgian frontier is proving the left flank of the French army, and says that in attempting this the British force was compelled to assume responsibility for a very extended section of the front. He points to the German forces commanding in chief of the British force, that the British held one-twelfth of the line in that the greater share of the command of opposing the enemy fell, and still falls, to the French.

The British, he says, have been pitted almost vital part.

TO INCREASE MARINE CORPS.

GEN. BARNETT WANTS EIGHT HUNDRED MORE MEN.

He also Would Like to have Annapolis Graduates as Officers Because of their Superior Mental and Physical Development—Higher Rate of Pay is Asked.

While the general discussion of the subject has dealt only with the naval and battleships and cruisers, Admiral Strauss took occasion to point out that long-range torpedoes are neither required nor desired for such purposes. He said that the British and French navies had been compelled to assume responsibility for a very extended section of the front. He points to the German force commanding in chief of the British force, that the British held one-twelfth of the line in that the greater share of the command of opposing the enemy fell, and still falls, to the French.

The British, he says, have been pitted almost vital part.

DANIELS EXPLAINS.

This statement stands, he says. "The views of the naval and battleships and cruisers, Annapolis Graduates as Officers Because of their Superior Mental and Physical Development—Higher Rate of Pay is Asked.

Emphasizing the need for obtaining marine officers from Annapolis, Gen. Barnett observes:

"Not only will the corps then receive officers who are better educated technically than those now admitted, but also much better qualified physically. Recently there have been almost 2000 applications for admission of the corps who soon after their entrance have developed physical defects which render them unfit for service."

The report asks that, unless this recommendation is adopted, no appointments be made until Congress has been asked to provide for appointments from civil life of second lieutenants, to serve as such for two years, meanwhile attending an officers' school.

In urging the increase in personnel, Gen. Barnett points out that expeditionary work last year, especially that in Mexico, made it necessary practically to deplete the barracks in the Pacific.

He says that, unless this recommendation is adopted, no appointments be made until Congress has been asked to provide for appointments from civil life of second lieutenants, to serve as such for two years, meanwhile attending an officers' school.

Gen. Barnett expresses fear that long-contained service in the tropics is "bound to have an unfortunate effect on the health of the corps," and that several reports have come in from inspection officers due to inadequate and unsanitary barracks which cannot be improved without special appropriation.

Finally, he says, it is a matter of interest to the government to have an increase of pay for enlisted men in the Marine Corps who are doing technical work similar in character to that performed by enlisted men of the army.

COAL STRIKE
IN MESSAGE.Wilson to Discuss Colorado Situation in Congress.Wisconsin Industrial Law is Suggested as Remedy.Governor-Elect Carlson Says
He is Favorable to Plan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Wilson, it became known today, is in favor of an early clearing up of the Colorado coal strike situation. He expected to refer to the question in his message to Congress next week. Ultimately, it was understood today, President wants a law similar to the Newlands act applying to all industrial disputes under which many threatened strikes on railroads have been averted. The Federal Industrial Relations Commission which is now conducting hearings in Colorado is expected to recommend the passage of a law.

The President still is awaiting word from the Governor of Colorado that the State ready to recommend the strike situation and will withdraw the Federal troops as soon as a notice is received.

Chairman Foster called today a meeting of the House Mines Committee for Friday to consider the final act on the Congressional inquiry into the strike.

MONEY.DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCHES
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Ivy Mayberry, who figured in an elopement in Seattle with S. Foster Kelley, a son of that city, four years ago, was arrested here today on a warrant charging her with obtaining money by false pretenses. The warrant was obtained by Kelley, who advised in his complaint that the woman had obtained $500 from him at the time that she had just undergone an operation to relieve appendicitis and had the money to pay her expenses.

The complainant Kelley stated that representations were untrue. Kelley refused to talk. Attorneys for Mrs. Henry make a general denial on behalf of the woman.

Said Kelley that he has been living out of state and that Mrs. Henry has been him for several years. Mrs. Henry has been living quietly in this city since the elopement of Foster Kelley and his beautiful wife.

The Kelley's clerks, from Seattle to this in the fall of 1910 caused a sensation at the time. Kelley was cashier in the Seattle National Bank and a very popular young man. After tribulations during which the couple spent some time in jail here, couple parted and Kelley returned to Seattle.

WISCONSIN PLAN
MAY BRING PEACE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ENVER, Dec. 3.—A ray of hope possible peace in the Colorado coal strike appeared today in the announcement of Prof. John R. Commons of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission that he had informed informally to Colorado operators and union officials separately the king of the Wisconsin industrial relations act.

The action followed the decision of Gov.-elect George A. Carlson before the commission yesterday that he would urge enactment by the State legislature of a law providing for a minimum wage and an advisory board to all difficulties between capital and labor. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Wilson, it became known today, is in favor of an early clearing up of the Colorado coal strike situation. He expected to refer to the question in his message to Congress next week. Ultimately, it was understood today, President wants a law similar to the Newlands act applying to all industrial disputes under which many threatened strikes on railroads have been averted. The Federal Industrial Relations Commission which is now conducting hearings in Colorado is expected to recommend the passage of a law.

The President still is awaiting word from the Governor of Colorado that the State ready to recommend the strike situation and will withdraw the Federal troops as soon as a notice is received.

Chairman Foster called today a meeting of the House Mines Committee for Friday to consider the final act on the Congressional inquiry into the strike.

MONEY.DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCHES
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Ivy Mayberry, who figured in an elopement in Seattle with S. Foster Kelley, a son of that city, four years ago, was arrested here today on a warrant charging her with obtaining money by false pretenses. The warrant was obtained by Kelley, who advised in his complaint that the woman had obtained $500 from him at the time that she had just undergone an operation to relieve appendicitis and had the money to pay her expenses.

The complainant Kelley stated that representations were untrue. Kelley refused to talk. Attorneys for Mrs. Henry make a general denial on behalf of the woman.

Said Kelley that he has been living out of state and that Mrs. Henry has been him for several years. Mrs. Henry has been living quietly in this city since the elopement of Foster Kelley and his beautiful wife.

The Kelley's clerks, from Seattle to this in the fall of 1910 caused a sensation at the time. Kelley was cashier in the Seattle National Bank and a very popular young man. After tribulations during which the couple spent some time in jail here, couple parted and Kelley returned to Seattle.

LAMAR SENTENCE IS TWO YEARS.
FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY
BY IMPERSONATING U. S.
CONGRESSMAN.[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—David Lamar was today found guilty of impersonating Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania for the purpose of defrauding J. P. Morgan & Co. and the United States Steel Corporation. He was immediately sentenced to serve two years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

The government charged that Lamar and his friend, Edward Lauterbach, a lawyer, entered into a conspiracy to obtain money from the United States Steel Corporation and the Morgan firm by representing themselves as the agents of Speaker Clark and other men high in Congress. To further this conspiracy, it was charged, Lamar later telephoned Lewis Lewis and the others, represented himself as the telephonist to be Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania. He was acting with the knowledge and sanction of Speaker Clark and sought to have Mr. Ledyard obtain employment for Lauterbach with the Morgan firm or the Steel corporation.

The telephone conversation lasted a few days before Mr. Ledyard telephoned to the real Representative Palmer and found that he had been calling himself "Speaker of the House."

Mr. Ledyard had been Lauterbach, Mr. Ledyard said, had demanded money for his services. Three indictments were found by the grand jury. Two of them charged Lamar with representing himself as an officer of the United States government; the third charged Lamar and Lauterbach with conspiracy. The indictment against Lauterbach, Dist. Atty. Marshall said, will be pressed at an early date.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Glad to be home again after their long service in Mexico, 350 officers and men of the Marine Corps reached the Philadelphia Navy Yard late today on the transports San Marcos, which sailed from Vera Cruz the day the United States relinquished that city to Mexico.

The advance guard of the returning force on the San Marcos, while small in number, received the warmest of welcomes. A few were friends and relatives of the officers and men on all the transports. Two rear-admirals, the commandant of the yard, the major-generals of Marine Corps and any number of admirals and rear-admirals lent color to the scene as the transports, welcomed by the wives and children of the men on board, docked.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—In spite of the $400 monthly payment for police protection, Frank Ryan, alleged head of a "clairvoyant" ring that operated in Chicago until recently, received from $3000 to $6000 a month as his share of the swindling operations, he told MacLean Hoynes, State's Attorney, in a written confession made public to-night.

In addition to the large monthly police payments, Ryan said he paid an average of $25 to $100 weekly to help buy flowers for some patrolman who had lost a member of his family. He also said it took a neat sum to entertain properly the out-of-town policemen who frequently came with warrants for members of the clairvoyant.

Ryan was captured in Detroit a few days before Mr. Ledyard telephoned to the real Representative Palmer and found that he had been calling himself "Speaker of the House."

IN CITY WITH A HEART.

General Paissors on Broadway Aid Poor Woman Newspaper Vendor. Family Cared for.

Los Angeles has a heart. Mrs. Anna Rosenblum will swear to the truth of this statement because her tears yesterday brought her wealth unthought of.

She and two of her seven youngsters was sitting at the corner of Fifth and Broadway selling papers. Her second husband ran away from her home, No. 325 Manchester avenue, about six months ago, and her first had died, leaving her with the big load on her hands.

That explained the need for some sort of an income to keep the wolf from the door. The sergeants on the beat, seeing the youngsters, thought the woman was a widow, and the city to do something in aiding in their support. He stepped up and told Mrs. Rosenblum of the charitable work of the community and gave her a card to the Municipal Charities Commission, telling her to appear at its headquarters at 9 o'clock Friday

Mrs. Rosenblum thought it was a summons to the Police Court; thought she had been arrested, and was in the hardness of men's hearts, broke down in a storm of tears. Some people had gathered and heard part of her story in the newspaper. They were sympathetic. Passed the hat along.

Papers began to sell for remarkable figures, men paying a dollar for them and women doing the same to prove themselves not bachelors. For several days the amount of money raised in this busy corner realized the worth of the paper vendor and poured its gifts into the outstretched palm. Children with their mothers gave up toys and candy, until the corner appeared to be a booth in a Christmas bazaar.

Mrs. Rosenblum said that she would have enough to pay the two months' rent in arrears and buy some good warm clothes for the babies as well as have a doctor for her oldest boy, who has been an invalid for a number of years.

RIPLEY ESPIES RIFT IN CLOUDS

Predicts Big Winter Traffic to California.

Piffing Regulation Hooties the Railroads.

Grins When Asked Opinion of Valuation Work.

President Ripley of the Santa Fe sees a silver-lined cloud, about the size of a man's hand, arising off to the eastward, which promises gauds of gain to the railroads. It is in the shape of winter travel to California, which Mr. Ripley believes, due to the closing of Europe to tourists, will this year set new and unanticipated records.

"I am no prophet," said the head of the Santa Fe yesterday, on his arrival here en route to his winter home in Santa Barbara, "but I firmly believe, and I am confident that results will bear me out in the assertion, that there will be more persons come to California this year than ever before in history. I would even wager that travel will even exceed the expectations of the most optimistic."

On the other hand, Mr. Ripley sees very few rifts in the clouds for the railroads. Though he would not place his sanction on a prediction of ultimate government ownership of railroads, his forecast is of breakers ahead.

"The present administration," he said, "seems to be contented, and perhaps justly so, with a condition of affairs with which it is satisfied, the railroads and, moreover, none of the responsibility. It is a condition of affairs that pleases the theoretical and the Utopians among us, but it stifles initiative in railroad affairs. It means no railroads, no investment of the pioneering kind."

"And," said the sage of the traffic world continued, "it means that the acceleration of development in commercial lines which will follow the present hard times will only air-rush into a shattered vacuum, unprepared to adjust themselves to changed conditions. In other words, they will be forced to prove themselves, and forcibly adjusted to them, in other words, while the business world is careering ahead on broad-gauge lines. The result will be certain—a temporary stifling of development, and, of all things in the world, this country doesn't want this."

PLAIN WASTE.

Asked his opinion on the desirability, or ultimate functions, of the present railroad-valuation work which is being pursued by the Interstate Commerce Commission, pursuant to the Congressional bill, the discredited La Ballete, Mr. Ripley emitted a very broad smile, verging onto a grin.

"A plain waste of the public's money, an unprecedent waste," he said. "When they get through, they will have figured nothing substantial on which to base action regarding railroad bond issues or the making of freight rates. Why, most of the valuation figures will be obsolete by the time they get through, and the others will be out of date."

"But there will be one result," Mr. Ripley continued, with a sudden revival of his Rayburned good-will. "This valuation will show that the railroads of this country are not in bad condition, neither than bonded. Of course, there are some railroads that have been watered financially, but they are the exception rather than the rule."

To point the moral of his assertion that the railroads' bond issues and valuations will be of little value, Mr. Ripley pointed out that land values when the Santa Fe built its line through the San Joaquin Valley were double what they were when the Southern Pacific's valley line was built.

"Shall rates be based on the Santa Fe or the Southern Pacific's original mileage cost?" he asked, pertinently, "or will we have to strike a figure, or do the next best thing, figure abstractly, and value the railroad's service to shippers, an always negligible and mostly fluctuating quantity?"

IMPROVEMENTS HERE.

Regarding future improvements here, Mr. Ripley stated that ultimately the Santa Fe will either build a new station or add to the old one.

"It is in the present stage along this line is contemplated," he asserted.

Speaking of the European war, Mr. Ripley stated that our trade in staple foodstuffs will and has been increased there. He added that the cotton, the cotton, will shortly go to record prices as a result of economic conditions which make it patent that the cessation of the demand is only preparatory to a rebound in the demand upward.

"The Middle West," he said, "the grain States, are overflowing with prosperity. This is because they are the source of supply for those things which the battle lines are fed. While personally I believe that this vast economic waste going on over the waters will lower the buying level of the entire world ultimately, for the present, and perhaps for some years, the staple products' States will remain in prosperity, and their inhabitants come to California to play."

Mr. Ripley, who was accompanied by Mrs. Ripley, arrived here yesterday morning, and after a short stop at the Grand Canyon, and left at 4:15 o'clock last evening for Santa Barbara. Capt. A. H. Payson, president of the Northwestern Pacific, which is jointly owned by the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, was in conference with him for some hours yesterday afternoon.

WAHRANT WITHOUT CAUSE.

The complaints charging William E. Shaw and James Mansfield, collectors, with embezzling $96 from Rudolph Schering, a client, was yesterday dismissed by Justice Young, because of the utter lack of evidence. Justice Young declared that the complaints were not supported by any facts, and that there was not a scintilla of evidence pointing to their guilt. Deputy District Attorney Hogan said he would not oppose the dismissal of the complaints.

Mr. Schering, the prosecuting witness, did not even appear in court. Mr. Shaw, the chief witness against Attorney C. V. Riccardi, who is accused of embezzling $2000 from Mr. Shaw, Mr. Shaw declared yesterday that the charge was trumped up by certain persons who are anxious to discredit him.

How to Save a Million.

ganization, the above decreases in actual cost to the property owners affected would result.

President Handley asked Mr. Burks if he understands the city has the power to do its own public improvements.

"There is no doubt that the city has authority," said Mr. Burks.

He called attention to the fact that the city does other work not by contract.

"But let me say this in passing to the newspaper men," he added. "It would not be desirable to take over the work at once. It would be practically impossible. It would be injustice to deprive contractors to take steps which might be confiscatory."

He cited the fact that William Mulholland stated that if the aqueduct had been built by a private enterprise the city would have cost $15,000,000 more than the $25,000,000 that was expended on this wonderful work.

ON THE SAME BASIS.

Capt. Osborn asked the expert if his other estimates of saving were based upon statements as far as that regarding the 52 per cent per annum.

"Absolutely," replied Mr. Burks. In his formal statement to the board of education.

In formulating these estimates we have had the co-operation of the City Engineer's office; of several of the large contracting concerns engaged in the construction of the aqueduct, and numerous other engineers and experts, to whom we hereby extend our acknowledgments.

Additional work made in the estimates for interest on the necessary outlays to be made by the city; depreciation of machinery and tools; overhead administrative charges, and cost of

No account has been taken of the saving in time and convenience of property owners, which will be effected by centralizing, in a city office, the notification of the property owners and collection of interest and principal of deferred payments, the hearing and disposition of complaints, and the economics in the cost of materials other than cement, such as

The estimated saving to be effected through municipal as opposed to private construction is thoroughly supported by the experience of the aqueduct, which will follow the construction of the aqueduct, and of the harbor construction work. Mr. Mulholland estimates that the cost of aqueduct construction would not be less than $15,000,000, in excess of the actual cost of this project, ($24,000,000.)

The president of the Harbor Commission estimates that the recent construction work done directly under his supervision has been 15 per cent less than similar work performed under contract.

An remarkable record in the aqueduct construction, under the direction of a single competent engineer with adequate authority to proceed under modern business conditions should be the sum of all evidence that the city cannot build up an organization competent to carry on its own street improvement work.

One of the most severe and unwar- ranted accusations directed at the efficiency of city government is the assumption that, in order to insure economical and efficient management of large construction projects, the city must force go outside of its own organization and employ services of private construction companies.

It is not to be assumed, of course, that the department of public works could or should take over one or more of these brief periods, entire responsibility for street improvement work. It will be necessary to build up somewhat gradually a proper organization; to acquire the necessary equipment and to develop administrative methods essential to the successful prosecution of public work of the magnitude of that under consideration.

Furthermore, private enterprises now performing this service for the city must, in all fairness, be considered in the development of the city's plan. Several of these companies have invested in elaborate organizations which they have built up in response to a genuine public need. For many years they have rendered a service to the community, in measurable value, which the city government has not been equipped to perform. No step, therefore, should be taken which might properly be stigmatized as unfair or conspiratorial.

For many years, even under a systematic plan for municipalizing street

construction work, there will be need for the service of the best-equipped private enterprise. In the interest of public service, street improvement work should be done by the city, for several years, at least, in competition with the best-equipped private enterprises. The inevitable result of such procedure will be to stimulate both the public and private organizations to the highest standards of efficiency.

To make possible the business-like and more accurate accounting of the organization and administrative procedure are absolutely essential:

ORGANIZATION AND EQUIPMENT.

(1) A thoroughly qualified director of public works must replace the present amateur commission of three members, who are usually without experience, trouble, and expense of large construction projects.

(2) A staff of competent assistants of special divisions must be permarected to the work of administration and supervision.

skilled workmen to be built up, kept together, and constantly trained in the most efficient methods of work.

the basis for comparison and intelligent supervision. Such reports are not now available.

Already intimate scenes of the war were upon the screen when Old Man in the Next Seat arrived. Trinity Auditorium was filled night with an eager audience of a pie who awaited the coming of the first official war pictures, shown through the cameras, to the untold horrors and vast and splendor of the combat of battle. Reluctant to have its ragged, worn and disheveled men in pictures, Belgians refused to permit films of fighting until the end of the war improved because one-half of net proceeds of their display will be returned to Belgium to relieve the suffering and distress.

As the bunched Old Man, guided a young man in plain dress, dropped into his seat, an artilleryman explained that one could almost sit upon the seats of the gun carriage being shown. The tired horses stood there in a row, and the front ones held aloft their hands. It is a signal for the gun crew to place the hands over their ears lest the drum fire and a white puff comes from the gun carriage.

SEE REAL FIGHTING.

In the fighting at Alost the operations of the heavy shrapnel cannon are shown. The deadly artillery must be seen to be believed. Two soldiers stand over the gun carriage and points afar over the field of the battle. Two Belgians, like drivers, or possibly moving vans, or American city, stand ready for the fight. These ambulances hold three men of the crew, and open on three sides. The horses are running little priests and the over-present nurses are all about. Into the camera's full eye a man woefully in pain is treated, and his face is the face of Belgium itself, and the Old Man in the Next Seat takes a deep breath.

"Now Grandpa," says the girl, "don't tell it hard."

From the first view come Aerschot and later Malines. The road goes neatly and comfortably cobbled, but the cobbles have been torn up and scattered in treacherous heaps. Above the road the foot of the Germans is seen, and a mighty rush of dust and smoke. A shell has struck the levers of the buildings. The Old Man in the Next Seat is in his native language. The girl reproves him. "You promised not to get excited," she says.

FLOUDING THE COUNTRY.

In the third scene the homeless sacrifice of the perfectly-kept fields. The dykes have been tapped, and the countryside flooded to stop the Germans. A valley that was once a granite is shown a pond.

At last the fall of Antwerp, a city with wonderful cathedrals and historic architecture. The daring pro- gress, aloft in one of the towers of the cathedral, has taken the city to the great artillery of the Germans. Start in all quarters. There comes a blinding roar, much like burning oil fields, for the electric wires of Belgium are not unlike oil fields.

The footbridge over the River Scheldt, the only one left out of the city, is shown at its union with the city's streets. To it surges all of life, who can flee, and even an arm- ed automobile with machine gun surges up and then back into the river city.

And then comes the portals of Holland, to which all are fleeing. The quaint village resources of the Belgian man are shown in catalogued detail, push carts with a family of women and all the household articles: dog carts, carts with wheels

SHOWING WHAT WAR REALLY IS.

Official Battle Pictures at Trinity Auditorium.

Faid Portrayal of Fighting Grips Big Gathering.

Great Film's Proceeds will Aid the Belgians.

Already intimate scenes of the great war were upon the screen when the Old Man in the Next Seat arrived. Trinity Auditorium was filled last night with an eager audience of people who had awaited the coming of the first official war pictures, that showed through the camera's cold eyes the unmitigated horror, and variety and splendor of the combat of nations. Reluctant to have its rugged woes recorded forever in pictures, Belgium officially refused to permit similar scenes until the present ones were approved because one-half of the net proceeds of their display will be returned to Belgium to relieve the suffering of the Belgians.

As the huddled Old Man, guided by a young woman in plain dress, dropped into his seat, an artillery scene, so grim that one could almost sit upon the seats of the gun, carriage was being shown. The tiny gun, and then there was a moment, and in the foreground a team one horse nibbling at the other's breast, while the other showed gratitude by mouthing his neighbor's back. Ten minutes from the battlefield, and they stood so, and the Old Man had crept out as if it would trouble them.

TERMONDE was being shown, one of the stricken cities that the war had visited until none could recognize the shadow of a former city in the unbroken wreckage. Some thick stone-walled buildings still stood with great holes in the walls, ragged like oil wounds of the flesh that would not heal. And by them came clattering the few Belgian horses, heavy, great horses trotting briskly in sham, and many a seat on the gun carriage was empty.

SEE REAL FIGHTING.

In the fighting at Alost the operations of the heavy shrapnel cannon is shown. The deadly, fiery muzzle of the gun, braced and points afar over the fields to the invisible forces of the enemy. Two officers hold aloft their hands, it is a signal for the gun crew to place their hands over their ears lest the drums roar, and a white puff comes from the gun lips.

The shock of the explosion is so great that the gun shrugs back ten feet almost, it seems, and then returns to duty, as a small boy's shoulder at the heel of a horse is torn up, and the gun is again pointed out where the infantry is at work, the Red Cross ambulances, like bread wagons, possibly moving vans of an American city, stand ready for the wounded. These ambulances hold three men, a driver, a nurse, and a doctor. The hurried doctors, and the running little priests and the ever-present nurses are all about. Into the scene's full eye a man woefully injured is treated, and his face is the face of Belgium itself, and the Old Man in the Next Seat takes a deep breath.

"Now Grandpa," says the girl, "don't you feel better?"

Then into view comes Aarschot at late Malines. There is a road, neatly and comfortably cobbled, in the cobbles has been torn up in scattered in treacherous heaps. A wounded foot of the German is coming along, and the road is strewn a mass of tangles, all barbed, and it is charged with electricity. Close beside it an old cow munched in preparation for the killer, but the men did not arrive. The dog teams, dragging the machine guns on the two-wheelers, trudged on. A whistle, and they dropped into action. A whistle, and they dropped from the master and they ran. The machine gun is lifted by two Belgians from its carriage and propped up, and the gunner fires again almost instantly. Further along the soldiers slowly, as if they were digging a well, make their trenches in a field. One stops now and then to prepare best for hurriedly made, both the officers quartering an apple, leisurely directs the operations. The dogs moan in the distance.

From a distance are shown the Belgian ranks suddenly from the trench, a wave of the arm, and they are over the field. Behind them, however, and exposed, remain two buildings. But in the center of the building, the camera's gaze, there comes a fight, a scuffle for a gun, a mighty rush of dirt and bricks. A shrapnel shell has struck the lesser of the buildings. The Old Man in the Next Seat tears in his native language. The girl reproves him. "You promised not to get excited," she reminds him.

FLOODING THE COUNTRY.

In the third reel the hopeless sacrifice of the war is shown in the flooding of the perfectly-kept fields. The water has been tapped, and the country-side flooded to stop the Germans. A valley that was once a granite is shown a pond.

At last the fall of Antwerp, a city of wonderful cathedrals and historic architecture. The daring photographer, aloft in one of the towers of the cathedral, has taken the city to yield to the great artillery of her foes.

Fire starts in all quarters. There are plumes of smoke, much like burning oil fields, for the electric wires of Belgium are not unlike oil wells.

The pontoon bridge over the River Scheldt, the only avenue out of the city, is shown, it is filled with the city's streets. To it surges all of Antwerp that can flee, and even an automobile with a machine gun running atop drives up and then back into the river city.

And there comes the portals of Holland, to which all are fleeing. The Belgian vehicular resources of the Belgians nation are shown in catalogued detail. Small carts burdened with a family, a dog, and all the household possessions, carrying a half score of people and hills of baggage, with one lean man, carrying the snafus and finally vanishing into the distance.

Two sturdy young men with great modern shoes take the salvage of their home in a white sheet supported from both between them. It is Belgium's last terrible moment, and every face is a picture of Belgium's woe. Women are shown to weep, little ones are really weeping, and men, too, selected men, hurry in endurance into the arms of Holland, and in the passing, almost as the picture closes, there comes a small woman, dragging along with the aid of one crutch. The Old Man in the Next Seat leaned forward. He seized the seat ahead with both hands.

Indorse All Amendments

that has been injected into this campaign," Mr. Burks said. "What I have in mind is that members of the government is impersonal and directed in no way toward any of the officers connected with the city government. It is no place for personalities and I have not and will not indulge in them."

Mr. Burks showed the realty men that difference between the present complex situation in which there is no direct line of responsibility as compared with the manager plan in which the policy determining function is centralized in the manager. The amendment providing for proportional representation, saying that a much better Council could be chosen by groups than by the present method.

"This is a sweeping amendment," said President Whiffen of the Council in reply. "It would revolutionize the whole city government from stem to stern. I believe that under our present system, there are some extravagances, but that is due to the city being hampered by civil service."

I favor the removal of civil service from the departments that spend the most money. But if it were removed it would reduce the cost of work to the people from 20 to 25 per cent.

"The manager idea is deficient in that it deprives the people of a safeguard in the manager."

"I am not defending the present system," said President Handley of the Board of Public Works. "Before our Efficiency Commission was thought of I gave it a hearty endorsement. But we will not have a real manager. We won't have a real manager. I don't believe Mr. Burks knows what it is to serve 'at the pleasure of the City Council.' Do you mean to tell me that the manager appointed by the City Council escape all influence?" It is well enough to talk about this high idealism. Four years ago I felt the same way, but I know better now. I know where the lines are drawn and where the present system comes in. There is no such thing and can be no such thing as a city manager. The head was an excellent state of preservation. The undertakers were unable to locate the grave containing the other parts of the body and the head was buried by itself. It was present that indicates returning prosperity. It means that the business world is recovering its resilient tone and is looking to the future with confidence."

Speaking more particularly of the future, Mr. Handley stated that he anticipates not only the biggest winter tourist business in history this year, but an exposition travel next year that will confound even the most optimistic of the people.

"Los Angeles will be the focal point for this travel," he said. "Every ticket will read in one direction via Los Angeles and those who don't take advantage of the stops will derive all benefit. These expositions will mean as much to this city as either one of the exposition cities."

Regarding railroad business in general, Mr. Handley said the Southern Pacific stated that there has been a most perceptible increase in the volume of freight handling lately.

"It is not only in general handling, but in the inter-state traffic," said.

"I find a general return of confidence and with it a disposition to order in bulk and not in job lots. It means that the buying powers of the country are asserting themselves and that the merchants see buyers for increased offerings."

"A few months ago," Mr. McCracken continued, "there was a general disposition to look pessimistically to the future. Now, however, the people are not pessimists, constitutionally, but when an array of conditions force the conclusion that there are hard times ahead, they tend to be as cautious as any people. But with large crops and ready markets for foodstuffs, the spirit of confidence has begun to leave the whole, outward from the city, as it were."

"As for the future, the best way I can put it is to say that there are a certain number of persons in this country who must go to Europe, for the time being, and they won't, if they are wise, and this leaves California or Florida as alternatives."

With the advertising they have the future, the best part of the future, of the persons who must go some place are coming here. And I want to say that many of them have never been here, strange as it may seem, for they are the persons who in the past have found no good outside of the pleasant."

"I'll admit it—winter resorts of the Riviera."

Andrews for the Realty Board, at the Oakland convention, was presented to Mr. Handley at the Alexandria and Mr. Andrews acknowledged the honor of being presented with it. "Would he like to have it?"

"Yes, Mr. Handley agreed to the idea of a permanent collection and then designating which of the trustees shall teach Greek, which Latin, which Sanskrit and so on?"

Or, would he allow his trustees to select men who are qualified to teach those things?

"Mrs. Exline won full judgment when the case was tried before a jury in Los Angeles," he said, "some time ago. A new trial was granted on the ground that the judgment did not agree with the evidence. Mrs. Exline testified that under a contract with the defendants she found a purchaser for the 22,000 acres in G. Lewis' ranch, entitled to 5 per cent. on the purchase price of $200,000. The defendants alleged that they owed her nothing."

The jury returned judgment for the defendants, on the ground that the case was tried before a jury, and that the evidence was not sufficient to support the claim.

Railroad Traffic Chief Tells of Increase of Business, how Jobbers are spending Large Stock Lots and of Indications of a Tremendous Tourist Traffic.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home:) A general broadening of investments with a corresponding widening of the speculative field has led to an optimistic feeling in financial circles. Many of the active shares of industrial corporations were sold at advanced prices from 2 to 6 points. The New Sweden loan of $5,000,000 was taken quickly by one banking house, which reflects the enormous reserves now on hand for legitimate business channels. According to a comprehensive study of the effects upon American business by the European war, 600 correspondents presenting all parts of the country, have stated in declaring that conditions are rapidly improving, and they predict much greater prosperity within the next few months. (For details see financial page.)

AUGHT WITH THE GOODS.
The English have captured Gen. De Wet again. We suppose he will now write another book on the advantages of loyalty. He may even be persuaded to become loyal himself.

DANGEROUS CONFESSION.
It is too bad to admit the fact that fewer people are reading books today because they have other things to do. The admission might precipitate such a lot of new books by Gerald Stanley Lee and Bliss Carmen on "The Lost Art of Reading."

WEET VERACITY.
One observes with interest that the Women's Ad. Club intends to specialize in veracity. The public faith in advertising must be built on a solid basis. They must be able to say that they saw it in an advertisement so of course it must be true. It is appropriate that such an original idea should have been born in the City of the Angels. Let us pray.

FORETHOUGHT.
The Adjutant-General of California's National Guard evidently believes to be rewarmed is to be pre-empted. He strongly advises against selling the warning nations of Europe all of our horses. The truth is, the United States could afford to tighten up all along the line. This country could find itself in a position where it could need for itself a great deal that it did either sold or given away.

THE WRONG METHOD.
After seeing a photograph of the pretty girl of Eau Claire who was reprimanded by a man teacher for wearing her dark curls over her shoulders we do not in the least condemn her fellow-students for raising a protest. It was a fit subject for rebellion. Of course we cannot approve of a strike, not even for so lovely a cause, but we would not have minded reading that one of the older boy pupils had quietly thrashed the teacher. This would appeal to us as peace with honor.

MARKETING COMMISSION.
The proposition is interesting, but one calling for much consideration as to detail. No State so feels the necessity for economy a getting produce delivered to the trade as California with its interests extending in so many directions and the necessity of going to the Far East in many cases if it is to sell all of its splendid harvest at the best prices. Such a commission might have the effect of securing the best shipping facilities at the most reasonable rates, but it could not interfere with the different market conditions of the various cities nor with the natural methods of competition.

URE PARAMOUNT.
The King has been pleased to elevate the governor of the Bank of England to the peerage and henceforth plain Mr. Walter Cunliffe becomes an earl. This "in recognition of his great services in an acute national crisis."

Chancellor Lloyd George of Great Britain, in one of his earliest speeches when the war broke out, declared that it was the last million pounds that would win the war. That title therefore is a diplomatic method for keeping on the right side of that last million. And yet some people still think the Englishman is a dull beggar minus a sense of humor!

PARLIAMENT AT THE WAR.
Some little points of order keep cropping up in the British House of Commons and divisions have had to go by the way. For no less than ninety-eight members of the opposition and thirty members of the government party are away fighting for their country. The question has arisen whether a soldier M.P. can be "paired."

When, too, owing to the exigencies of war, a seat now becomes vacant, there is a delicacy of feeling about contesting the constituency. Good sportsmen feel that the status quo in Parliament should be honorably maintained. The reason that so many of the opposition find themselves in military service is because the military are largely conservatives; it will be remembered that British officers recently resigned their commissions rather than be forced to take arms against rebel Ulster. Needless to say, they have all been reluctantly reinstated.

In the meantime it is no unusual thing for a member of Parliament to take his seat in the House in full khaki service kit—the first time in the history of the Commons.

A "TENNESSE" ANNIVERSARY.
The Times celebrates today its thirty-fourth birthday, and its proprietors and the members of its staff are justly proud of every year of its useful and honorable career of service. It has earned and received the confidence and support of the community in which it is published. It is the largest newspaper in the United States, with the largest advertising patronage, and its paid circulation exceeds that of any other newspaper in the great city of Los Angeles.

The Times first saw the light on December 4, 1881, as a little fold sheet. In 1882 it was twice enlarged. Every year there were further enlargements. In 1887 it was a standard seven-column quarto. In 1888 it was again enlarged and the pages of the Sunday issue were increased to sixteen.

Year after year pages have been added until now there are from twenty to thirty-four pages in the daily and from 120 to 154 for the Sunday issue, including the Sunday magazine.

In 1882 Gen. Garrison Gray Otis acquired a large interest in the Times-Mirror Company and assumed editorial control of The Times. For thirty-two years—with the exception of a brief period when he accepted a brigadier-general's commission and led his troops to victory in the Philippines—he has been at the helm and steered his vessel through both tranquil and stormy seas.

The motto of The Times has ever been "Stand fast, stand firm, stand sure, stand true." It has advocated the elementary principles of the party of Abraham Lincoln, but it has never hesitated to criticize Republicans who sought to use the Grand Old Party for purposes detrimental to the public interest. It favored a national irrigation policy when the East and Middle West antagonized it. It demanded that our harbor should not be subjected to railroad control. It contended for a gold currency when many trusted Republican leaders on this Coast were bitten by the free silver狂热 folly and clamored for a fifty-cent dollar, and it never faltered in its devotion to and advocacy of the principle announced and formulated by the immortal Henry Clay of protection to the South.

AUGHT WITH THE GOODS.
The English have captured Gen. De Wet again. We suppose he will now write another book on the advantages of loyalty. He may even be persuaded to become loyal himself.

DANGEROUS CONFESSION.
It is too bad to admit the fact that fewer people are reading books today because they have other things to do. The admission might precipitate such a lot of new books by Gerald Stanley Lee and Bliss Carmen on "The Lost Art of Reading."

WEET VERACITY.
One observes with interest that the Women's Ad. Club intends to specialize in veracity. The public faith in advertising must be built on a solid basis. They must be able to say that they saw it in an advertisement so of course it must be true. It is appropriate that such an original idea should have been born in the City of the Angels. Let us pray.

FORETHOUGHT.

The Adjutant-General of California's

National Guard evidently believes to be rewarmed is to be pre-empted. He strongly advises against selling the warning nations of Europe all of our horses.

The truth is, the United States could afford to tighten up all along the line. This country could find itself in a position where it could need for itself a great deal that it did either sold or given away.

THE WRONG METHOD.

After seeing a photograph of the pretty girl of Eau Claire who was reprimanded by a man teacher for wearing her dark curly curls over her shoulders we do not in the least condemn her fellow-students for raising a protest. It was a fit subject for rebellion.

Of course we cannot approve of a strike,

not even for so lovely a cause, but we would not have minded reading that one of the older boy pupils had quietly thrashed the teacher. This would appeal to us as peace with honor.

MARKETING COMMISSION.

The proposition is interesting, but one calling for much consideration as to detail.

No State so feels the necessity for economy

a getting produce delivered to the trade as

California with its interests extending in so many directions and the necessity of going to the Far East in many cases if it is to sell all of its splendid harvest at the best prices. Such a commission might have the effect of securing the best shipping facilities at the most reasonable rates, but it could not interfere with the different market conditions of the various cities nor with the natural methods of competition.

URE PARAMOUNT.

The King has been pleased to elevate the governor of the Bank of England to the peerage and henceforth plain Mr. Walter Cunliffe becomes an earl. This "in recognition of his great services in an acute national crisis."

Chancellor Lloyd George of Great Britain, in one of his earliest speeches when the war broke out, declared that it was the last million pounds that would win the war.

That title therefore is a diplomatic method for keeping on the right side of that last million. And yet some people still think the Englishman is a dull beggar minus a sense of humor!

PARLIAMENT AT THE WAR.

Some little points of order keep cropping up in the British House of Commons and divisions have had to go by the way.

For no less than ninety-eight members of the opposition and thirty members of the government party are away fighting for their country. The question has arisen whether a soldier M.P. can be "paired."

When, too, owing to the exigencies of war, a seat now becomes vacant, there is a delicacy of feeling about contesting the constituency. Good sportsmen feel that the status quo in Parliament should be honorably maintained. The reason that so many of the opposition find themselves in military service is because the military are largely conservatives; it will be remembered that British officers recently resigned their commissions rather than be forced to take arms against rebel Ulster. Needles-to say, they have all been reluctantly reinstated.

ARCTIC HUNTING WITH MOVIE CAMERA EXCITING.

Butted into Ocean by Ferozious Duck—Bears Victims of Feminine Trait, Curiosity—Find Rrue Specimens. Swift Train's Swift Tale—Cold Facts and Naked Truths.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

HUNTING the wary walrus with a "movie" camera gives all the delightful sensations of tickling the business end of a mule with a straw, according to E. Swift Train, a large, genial sport, who has just returned from an eight months' tour of the Arctic regions.

"Anybody who craves excitement, adventure and hunting of all kinds can make the trip up north. The Arctic Circle and the land beyond his appetite satisfied with little trouble," grinned Train, out at the Selig Studio yesterday.

HUNTING CLOCK ROUND.

"Out on the ice floes he can hunt the bear, the grizzly, the slender walrus and the inquisitive polar bear. On the land he can shoot the white, blue, red and silver fox, the wolverine and the caribou; on the ocean he can catch salmon, trout, halibut, cod, mackerel and at night, sleeping in the Eskimo igloo, he can battle bugs of all kinds from the time he crawls in bed till he gets up in the morning."

Train's "movie" camera gives the same impression that his name would convey. A big, smiling, happy-go-lucky sort of individual, he looks the part of a young man, who would enjoy every minute of his thrilling trip without getting a single scratch.

"The only way I know of to make this trip is to do what I did," said Train yesterday. "The Federal Film Company of San Francisco secured me a pass on the United States Revenue Cutter 'Bear' which every year makes a tour of the northern waters in Alaska.

NOVEL CHASE.

"The first thing exciting that we came across was a walrus hunt. This is an interesting experience, a whale hunt, but we were not able to take part in one. The animals are protected, no one but the natives being allowed to bring the carcasses to the United States, and the importation of these tusks is subject to a very high duty."

"The natives search for the animals in boats called comicks, made out of walrus hide and about forty feet long. The animals are not afraid of the natives, but hunting in the sun and the quiet enables the hunter in the bow of the boat to approach easily within striking distance."

"The walrus is an easy mark on land. It has a bulge on the top of its head, and the hunter, if an expert shot, can kill them by the dozen. Should one of the beasts make for the water, the hunter uses harpoons for it, as otherwise he would escape."

DANGEROUS BEAST.

"A wounded and enraged walrus in the water is an awe-inspiring sight. Unwieldy on land, he shoots like a torpedo through the water and unless stopped, hits his head high out of the water, and, as he turns, he looks like an eggshell with a mighty blow of his tusks.

"The biggest problem of the natives comes after the walrus is dead. Of course, it is on the ice floe that he is cut up and carried off, but often the wounded beast gets to the water before he is killed. Inasmuch as he will float only a few seconds after death, it requires constant speed and dexterity to get him to shore."

SUBMARINE TOWING.

"The natives pass a piece of hide rope around the carcass and fasten one end of the rope to each side of the boat, so that the body hangs suspended in the water twenty feet below the surface. Then the body has to be towed in this manner all the way to shore, often miles away, and then drawn up on the beach by the natives."

"The walrus is an easy mark on the ice, a difficult matter. The footing is naturally slippery and the natives use a shoe called a mukuk, which is made of Uguruk hide, the same as the natives wear in the sun. This is used for the sole of the boot and is cinched by the Eskimo women with their teeth. The top of the boot is made of reindeer skin and combines comfort with a sure footing on the ice."

"The walrus are slaughtered by the Norwegians. Two boats were in the Arctic at the same time as the Bear and one of them killed 1500 hides and the other 2500 and over."

"The natives in the northern part of Alaska spend most of their time hunting and fishing, and the rest of the time fighting on their sled dogs."

DOGS' LIFE.

"These Eskimo dogs are regular devils," said Train. "They sneak up behind you and nip at your legs, and if you once fall down they are lucky if you get up alive. Hundreds of native babies are torn to pieces by these wild dogs, which pounce on them when they fall down."

WITH SCIENTISTS.

"We had with us on the trip two

Walrus hunting—some sport.

OXIDENTAL FOOTBALL CARNIVAL TOMORROW.

OXIDENTAL COLLEGE will hold its annual football carnival for high school Rugby and American game athletes at the old Oxidental Field tomorrow. It will be an all-day affair, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. The Tiger freshmen and sophomores will bring the carnival to an end with their annual class foot-ball game.

On the program are place kicking, drop kicking, punting, forward passing, passing, twenty-five-yard dash for Rugby players, another for American players, and American team play. The team play has been dropped from the program, the place and drop kicking and the forward-passing events will be held in the morning. Manager Kirkpatrick will provide a noon lunch for those competing.

Hillside High School over the south will enter their football athletes. Poly, L. A., Manual, Hollywood and Lincoln of the city will enter teams. Manual is entering twenty men. Most of the county high schools, including Santa Ana, Long Beach, Pasadena, Whittier, and others, will enter.

State and Ingelwood will send their stars. San Diego is sending up its best men.

State and Ingelwood will go to those winning first places in the placings, second and third will get ribbons.

"The carnival," explained Coach Pipal, "is to stimulate football among the high schools, to bring the various schools together and to develop the points of the game. It is helping to make drop kickers, place kickers, punters and forward-pass throwers. We believe it is doing its share in the rapid development of football among the high schools."

There is not another carnival just like it in America. Yale and Harvard have carnivals along the same line, but they are limited to their own students. Their purpose is to develop football among their own athletes. The Oxidental carnival is to develop and encourage football among the public.

More than 200 prep athletes were present at the carnival last year, and as large a number is expected this year. Like the Oxidental relays it has come to play an important part in southern athletics in three years' time.

HOGAN IS ROUNDING UP
TALENT FOR THE TIGERS.Has Made Offers for Two American Association Players—Possibility that Hi West May Play Here—Hap Doesn't Allow Sacramento Prospects to Interfere with His Job Here.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

HOGAN refuses to let that something thing worry him even a little bit. In the face of the possibility of being assigned to that city, he remains calm and collected, and is going fixing up the Tigers for next next with the confident air of a man is not threatened with a crisis calmly.

Again, it may be that the Federals have no intention of going beyond their depth, but hope to terminate the war by a few bold and sensational moves that will force the majors to make peace.

Hogan in Rebellion.

Ivan Olson is home again, bringing with him one of the best little peeves Olson is all wrought up over being sent to Cincinnati by Cleveland.

That anybody should kick on being sent to Cincinnati, after the way this was developed last year, is certainly speaks bad for Hap.

Possibly it is the principle of the thing that gets Olson's goat. To be abruptly relegated to the Reds, with nothing to do but sit around and have a shabbie reward for the conscientious work that Olson did for the Cleveland club.

Club politics are generally admitted to have been back of the move. When Olson was dropped from the Cleveland team he was made captain of the club. Birmingham, so the story runs, thought that he was the sent for the black, and found it easy to engender a dislike for the Southerner. But Olson became manager, he of course, had the upper hand, and getting rid of Olson only was the question of a favorable opportunity.

At least, it is the Cleveland version of the affair. One Cleveland scribe bluntly declared that had the rest of the players given the club the same loyal service as Olson it would have finished first in the first division.

Olson is engaged in earnest conversation with Hi West, who has the air of being threatened with the Feds. He is the one of the other good ball players in the spine right out of his team each year, and build up a team the remnants, is getting a fair with the other players.

These frequent conversations, talk, and may yet give the report that Hi will wear
the uniform of the Tigers.

Olson admits receiving an offer from the Feds, and makes it clear that he will seize the same, unless the Cincinnati people make it worth his while to reject it.

Red Held, of the massachusetts face silver, is going to pass the winter in St. Louis. It has been a lifelong habit with Held to winter in St. Louis, and this will be the first time that he has not hung his Christmas sock in front of the family fireplace. No longer will Red be a matinee idol.

He recently became a married man.
As Mrs. Held is a native daughter, his greatest interests are naturally on the Coast. Side trips to beach and baseball, however, are not to be overlooked.

Held is a Kansas City athlete, and his present position seems to be a good one. He is the Held family from now until spring.

The reduction of Coast League titles to three is not likely to hit Held.

Darmody is No Novice.

Tom Darmody, brand new owner and president of the Los Angeles club, despite fears to the contrary, is no
green hand in the matter of baseball.

An old player himself, he has been identified with the game in one way and another for years, and knows the sport from every angle. There are few men on the Coast better known in amateur baseball circles than Darmody, and there is at least one big league manager who is guided absolutely by his tips regarding young players of the Coast.

Darmody is a lifelong acquaintance of Gil McDermott, and Fred Bancroft of the Cincinnati Reds, and it would not be surprising should he be called to get a number of players from that club.

Los Angeles is to be felicitated on getting a baseball man of Darmody's caliber in charge of its team. It is certain Berry is to transfer his interests to San Francisco, declared Bancroft while here recently. He is a thorough baseball man in every sense of the word.

JOE RIVERS BUYS A NEW LUXURIOUS AUTOMOBILE.

IN SPITE of the collapse of the fight game, Joe Rivers has provided himself with a few of the bare necessities of life.

Having no way to get from home to his work except with a $7500 Simplex seven-passenger automobile, Joe has purchased a new Packard limousine.
Now, if his wife should want to go down Broadway and look in the shop windows while Joe wants to go down Spring street to his training quarters, they can accomplish this.

DARTMOUTH IS
AFTER HARVARDTwo Best Teams Didn't Get Together.Green Team had a Chance to Beat Crimson.Cavanaugh has Made Name
as a Coach.

The two best varsity football elevents in the East have not met this fall.
From a football standpoint this is a misfortune, but it is practically out of the question to look for a Harvard-Dartmouth game this season. The teams have finished their hard schedules.

It is almost out of the question to talk of a Harvard-Dartmouth game for next year. There is no apparent chance. If next year's general football schedule brings anything large and new it may be because of a Yale-
Dartmouth game. That is a possibility.

Dartmouth would like to get right into the middle of the big ring and would gladly play Yale in New Haven, inasmuch as there is no disposition
at Cambridge to put the Green back on the Crimson's slate. The present big game scheduled for the new year in 1915 is the Yale-Princeton game at Cambridge and growing every time

the soft Pacific seeped puffed out of the hills and carried a bullet out of the black, rolled up the team total of 600 points over the long ranges of 200, 300 and 400 yards.

The British team, firing earlier in the month, scores just received by letter, faced an icy gale that brought tears to the eyes and took the Lee-Princeton aside off into the aching void surrounding the far-off paper targets.

Not satisfied with giving the California team the best rifle and ammunition, when they selected a target of 2700 feet, set against a background of 2440 feet, the fates arranged the usual California weather for the local team, and a gale for the British. When the victory was gained on the 200, 300 and 400 yards, the British team did not detect it, he would get a clean miss through having on windage to counteract the breeze.

The British team, with its targets starting 200 with twenty-five minutes of windage on its sights, which means that he was actually pointing his rifle seventeen feet off the bullet into the wind to counteract the drift the wind gave the bullet in going 200 yards.

The greatest correction used by the locals was four minutes, and this at 1000 yards, not 300, where the wind had little effect. In British breezes dropping for an instant, and the shooter did not detect it, he would get a clean
miss through having on windage to
counteract the breeze.

With "Jitney" buses continue fairly the demand for passenger

during the time that complaints were increasing that "Jitney" buses are not safe to ride on the street corners so that men without families applied

Committee of Federated Improvement Association Reports on Proposed Amendments.

The Federated Improvement Association last night discussed the report of the committee on proposed amendments to the charter of the association on the charter amendments proposed to be voted upon at an election the 31st inst. The report was strongly against proposed amendment
No. 1, which would change the city from a borough form of government;
strongly against No. 2, proposing a borough form of government; and strongly against No. 3, providing for proportional representation in the City Council, because it destroys majority control, and is destructive of the principle upon which the government is based; and against No. 10, concerning proposals and contracts.

The report favored the adoption of but three of the amendments. These are No. 6, providing for subways, sewers and storm drains; No. 2, paving
the way in the city; and No. 9, consolidating and No. 8, enabling the city to accept donations for the erection of buildings in city parks.

After a long discussion the whole subject was postponed until December 17, when the report will be made on a special order.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, B. F. Groves; vice-president, J. R. Tyson and Robert Hale; attorney, John W. Mitchell; secretary-treasurer, H. M. Chapman.

RING OF STEEL
ABOUT BELGIUM.

People Absolutely Unable to Help Themselves.

Hoover Praises Attitude of German Authorities.

Big Shipload of Supplies is on its Way Abroad.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, returned to London today after a week's trip of inspection in Belgium. Mr. Hoover reported that the distribution of foodstuffs sent in care of the American commission is well under way, but stated that the condition of famine which threatened the population is desperate, and that on account of the attitude of the belligerents the Belgians still must appeal to the people of the United States for relief.

"It is difficult to state the position of the civil population of Belgium without appearing hysterical," Mr. Hoover said in his report. "We do not know what history presents and parallel of a population of 7,000,000 people surrounded by a ring of steel and utterly unable, by any conceivable effort of their own, to save themselves."

From the nature of things it is impossible for the commission even to possess an opinion on the rights and wrongs which have preceded this situation. The Germans state flatly that the people of Belgium are normally dependent on the importation of foodstuffs for five-sixths of their subsistence, that the Germans have not the slightest objection to the Belgians or any one else importing foodstuffs into Belgium; that it is not the Germans who have blocked the ever-ready supply, upon which feeds the population, which could through the normal course of trade, obtain subsistence. The allies, on the other hand, contend that, from ports for the import of foodstuffs into Belgium would practically amount to an attempt for food supplies for the Germans. It is enough for us that there are 7,000,000 people ground between two gigantic powers.

"We are meeting with no obstruction from the military authorities of Belgium in the prosecution of our work. Not one loaf of bread or one spoonful of salt or oil have been denied us but have been taken by the military. The most stringent orders have been given that we shall have no interference and our members meet with respect and assistance in all quarters."

"There are considerable quantities of vegetables available in certain districts. In some places there is still a supply of cereals for the last few weeks, but in certain other localities there has been no bread available for more than a fortnight. Every soul will be dependent upon us for bread within thirty days."

"So far our efforts have necessarily been devoted to provisioning the larger centers. It requires organization and patience to be able to penetrate the tiny towns and villages. There are no telephones, telegraph, railways or post offices except for military purposes. The Belgians, of a military necessity, are not allowed to pass from their own towns and consequently there is no communication throughout the country except by personal visits of our members."

"Transportation by rail is possible in only a few directions, and then must be discontinued, not only because the canal system is blocked in many places by the destruction of bridges and some canals have been allowed to run dry. Therefore, it becomes necessary to get these cleared and to stimulate subsidiary transport services of the country, not only for the transportation of our food, but to permit the transportation of coal from the Belgian mines—a sore necessity this winter."

"There are no courts, and the prisons have been emptied, but the gendarmes have remained at their posts and are representative both of police and judges. The central and provincial governments have disappeared. The city and communal governments, however, are still in existence, and the distribution of food is being arranged. The Belgians are applying themselves with the most extraordinary devotion to the perfection of this organization, and are laying out every other aspiration for exertion on our part of the labor to save these people sufficient lies in this devoted work of the rich and the poor, a veritable democratic family which is working day and night to perform its part."

"The detail of the method is that after the food can afford, it is paid to the communal authorities at the rate of 4 cents per diem per ration. The destitute are given tickets gratis. The communal authorities contribute to the relief committee 1 cent per diem per ration, and the rest of the tickets issued in their commune, they obtaining this revenue from the tickets sold or by public subscriptions in the communes through the national committee under our supervision. These funds ultimately become available to us for the purchase of food."

"Further more, the same ration of bread and salt per diem is sold through the bakeries to the armed forces, to the men-in-the-field population, and as this bread is disposed of at a profit, our income has some further increase."

"Taking it all together, about one-half of the food which we send to Belgium is paid for so when the American people contribute two shiploads of food they enable us to buy one more cargo."

"As a result of the organization that we have, it is simply a large example of those in each locality. In that city at present there are fourteen communal kitchens and 137 canteens for adults, and there are sixteen kitchens and thirty-four canteens for children under 3 years old. For adults food is prepared in the communal kitchens and is distributed to the canteens twice daily. The kitchens and canteens for babies are maintained as a separate institution, and the conditions in charge of the canteens. Five different kinds of tickets are issued, the mothers calling for different types of rations. The tickets for the first ration, for a child, are practically for milk. Various types of tickets gradually evolve into the introduction of more solid foods, until children 2 years old and over call on the general canteen. In order to provide for the commune have taken over dairies."

"The amount and character of the distribution perhaps may be appreciated from the present position in Belgium, the total population of about 450,000 remaining in the city, an average of 218,000 were on the adult canteens and 3000 babies were on the baby canteens last week, or more than one-third of the total population. In Brussels, no one ever saw a woman presented with the long lines of mothers with children in arms waiting their turn at these canteens. In the industrial districts, where the people naturally would have smaller families, there is a greater surprise at the absence of movement and the lack of noise. Within one's range of vision, with a strong field glass, there are probably concealed 100,000 men, yet except for the few French soldiers with rifles in their hands, standing or kneeling in the immediate vicinity and keenly peering over the flat land toward the positions known to be held by the Germans, no human presence was noticeable."

"A staff officer supplied the information that behind a slight slope some 300 yards away many German guns were hidden from sight, but on an occasional night of moonlight a sharp whirring sound comes from an indefinite point told of the presence of this artillery."

"A little forest to the left is believed to be bristling with German guns, but the infantry in rifle pits and covered trenches. The approach to these positions has been made almost impossible from the standpoint of an infantry attack by barbed wire entanglements strewn with branches of trees."

RESERVES ARE READY.

Behind the advanced line of the allies, which thus far has succeeded in holding back the strong and rapid movements of the German troops, are large bodies of fresh reserves, ready to give their help in stopping any attempted rush of the Germans for the channel ports. Troops of cavalrymen in neighboring villages, ready to jump into the saddle at a moment's call. Other cavalry regiments, owing to the small extent which horsemen may be used in this burning campaign, have been replaced with mule drivers and considerable consignments of beans, flour, salt, lard and coffee.

The cargo is valued at $200,000. On arrival at Rotterdam it will be distributed under the supervision of the London-American Commission for Relief in Belgium.

Louis de Sadeleer, Minister of State for Belgium, said to the press, "The committee which recently made representations on behalf of the government of Belgium to President Wilson, was at the pier with members of the Belgian Relief Committee, to bid the steamer God-speed."

A small vessel has made up the bulk of the cargo, which contains also 35,000 pounds of condensed milk and considerable consignments of beans, flour, salt, lard and coffee.

The cargo is valued at $200,000. On arrival at Rotterdam it will be distributed under the supervision of the London-American Commission for Relief in Belgium.

OPPOSE INQUIRY INTO DEFENSES.

Democrats Fighting Shy of Gardner Resolution.

Reifications of New York Said to be Adequate.

Deemed to be Capable of Destroying Any Fleet.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Opposition to Representative Gardner's resolution for an investigation by the House into the preparedness of the United States for war was expressed to President Wilson today by Representatives Fitzgerald and Sherley, the ranking members of the House Appropriations Committee. Each told the President he was preparing to speak on the subject in the House.

"I am against any spectacular investigation into this subject," Mr. Fitzgerald said. "All the facts are available to anyone interested in the question, and through hearings before a regular committee debate and on the floor the question will be thoroughly resolved before the coming session over."

Sherley told the President that comments attributed to Mr. Gardner were "utterly groundless."

The defense of New York was in excellent shape, he said, and that he had been informed competent army officers that the defense of New York could destroy the German fleet.

President will go into the matter further on Monday, when he is to meet with the members of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

Mr. Fitzgerald told the prosecutor, Dr. Kohler, to ask for the defense of a German military court were "superior to those in hostile countries, which were dictated by him. He invited the court to impose a sentence of imprisonment for a

TO FILE CONTEST OF PROHIBITION.

Bishop of the Arizona Diocese Engages Two Lawyers.

Contends Measure Prevents Wines at Sacrament.

Druggists Fear it will Bar Many Useful Medicines.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 4.—Bishop Henry Granjon, head of the Catholic diocese of Arizona and New Mexico, has engaged Eugene S. Ives and John B. Wright, attorneys, to contest the validity of the State prohibition law adopted at the election November 3.

The contest, it was stated today, will be instituted in the name of Rev. Thomas Connolly, pastor of All Saints Church of this city, and will be based on the contention that the prohibition measure is unconstitutional because its sweeping provisions would prohibit the use of wine in the sacramental ceremony of the mass and thereby contravene the fundamental rights of religious organizations.

FIGHT BEGINS IN ONE WEEK.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 4.—Because the prohibition amendment adopted in Arizona November 3 would, it is alleged, prevent the use of wine in the sacrament of the Eucharist, thus interfering with religious liberty, individual members of the Catholic church have retained counsel to join in the attack on the measure as it stands in the courts. It was announced today that attorneys representing the church men would seek to have the proposed law declared unconstitutional by the United States courts.

Two attorneys also have been engaged as attorneys for the church men who take the stand that the prohibition law would prevent the compounding of prescriptions by shutting out of the State any ingredient or remedy containing alcohol.

The fight on the amendment will be launched as soon as Gov. Hunt issues his proclamation declaring the measure a law. The proclamation will be issued in time to prevent the case from being heard in the United States Court of Appeals at San Francisco.

Whether the case will be heard in the United States Court of Appeals at San Francisco depends upon the wishes of the parties in the contest.

The case will be heard in the United States District Court here for injunctions to restrain the Governor, Sheriff and other State officials from enforcing the provisions of the prohibition law, and also to prevent the swearing out of complaints by private citizens for alleged violations.

NATION-WIDE PROHIBITION HOUSE COMMITTEE TO ACT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The House Rules Committee will meet December 12 to act on the Hobson resolution for nation-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment, it was learned today. "We are hearing," said Mr. Henry, "as the committee probably will take action with the information before it."

THEATRICAL FIRM BANKRUPT.

The Liebler Company, with debts of $350,000 and unknown assets, is in receivership.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed this afternoon against the Liebler Company, theatrical producers, by Henry Askin of Chicago, and two other creditors of this city. The petition estimates the firm's liabilities at approximately $350,000, and states that the value of the assets is unknown.

Askin's claim is for money loaned and services rendered, aggregating $1000. The other two creditors are Joseph Kostanzer, of New York, and George Morris, whose claims are for $300 and $500, respectively. The petitioners alleged that the Liebler Company had made preferential payments to certain stockholders creditors during the four months, while the company was insolvent.

Irving M. Ditterhofer was appointed receiver of the firm by Judge Hough of the Federal District Court, who will conduct the business of the company.

Counsel for the Liebler Company stated that the conduct of the firm during the past year was the direct result of plays which had been contracted for prior to the outbreak of the European war had depleted the treasury, and made the company unable to comply with the demands of a few financial creditors. Had it not been for the outstanding contracts, it was stated, these productions would not have been made under present financial conditions. The attorney said the company had a loss of $100,000 on the assets at approximately $300,000.

Among the assets, it was stated, are a long lease of the Plymouth Theater in Boston, which last season gave a net profit of $10,000, and a portion of which are now on tour, and the motion-picture rights in most of the plays heretofore produced, which rights are "extremely valuable."

Among the assets, it was stated, are a long lease of the Plymouth Theater in Boston, which last season gave a net profit of $10,000, and a portion of which are now on tour, and the motion-picture rights in most of the plays heretofore produced, which rights are "extremely valuable."

Askin's claim is for money loaned and services rendered, aggregating $1000. The other two creditors are Joseph Kostanzer, of New York, and George Morris, whose claims are for $300 and $500, respectively. The petitioners alleged that the Liebler Company had made preferential payments to certain stockholders creditors during the four months, while the company was insolvent.

Irving M. Ditterhofer was appointed receiver of the firm by Judge Hough of the Federal District Court, who will conduct the business of the company.

Counsel for the Liebler Company stated that the conduct of the firm during the past year was the direct result of plays which had been contracted for prior to the outbreak of the European war had depleted the treasury, and made the company unable to comply with the demands of a few financial creditors. Had it not been for the outstanding contracts, it was stated, these productions would not have been made under present financial conditions. The attorney said the company had a loss of $100,000 on the assets at approximately $300,000.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—C. P. So did James Ryan, acting in the clairvoyant ring, confess his story, which was assumed to be true by Frank Ryan, resulting in nine true bills being voted, according to Macay Heyne, his attorney. Heyne said the indictment will not be returned over to the State's attorney, who with James Ryan, was convicted of having swindled Hope, the clairvoyant, of $10,000, to the extent of $10,000, and thus endanger the lives of Coroner's jurors.

MARQUARD JUMPS GOTHAM; EXPULSION THREATENED.

Pitcher Signs with Brooklyn Federal Club, Despite Contracts Holding Him to New York for Three Years. Latter Club Designs Legal Action, and Player's Fraternity Drastic Proceeding.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Rube Marquard, one of the New York National League club's trio of leading pitchers, signed a contract today to pitch for the Brooklyn Federal League club, according to an announcement, made by President Robert B. Ward of the Brooklyn club, this afternoon.

Ward stated that Marquard had signed the Brooklyn Federal League contract in triplicate, in addition to making an affidavit that he was a free agent in a baseball sense, and had received and accepted for an advance under his Federal League contract.

Secretary John P. Foster of the New York National League club, when questioned regarding Marquard's status as a free agent, said that the pitcher was under contract to the New York Giants in a series of the interlocking contracts, which covered his playing services for 1915 and 1916, and gave the New York club an option to him to service in 1917.

Still another contract is with the New York club special rights in regard to Marquard's playing services, and was drawn up with the idea of covering any loopholes which might exist in the other contract.

The secretary of the New York club scouted the idea that Marquard could play for any other team than the New York Giants for the next three years, and intimated that the case would be taken to court if the Giants southpaw endeavored to jump to the independent league.

President David Full of the Brooklyn Fraternity said tonight that the report of Marquard's signing with the Federals was hard to believe, but that if it were true, Marquard undoubtedly would be expelled from the fraternity Full's statement follows:

"Information has reached me that Rube Marquard has signed a binding contract with the New York National League club for the season of 1915, has signed with the Brooklyn Federal League club, and the player is hard to believe."

I feel that the Brooklyn people would not knowingly sign a player under these circumstances.

"If Marquard has done this, he will be expelled from the Brooklyn Players, as the director of the club, not countenance any such disregard of their obligations by its members."

When informed that the New York club management asserted that Marquard's name was signed to a binding contract to the New York National League club for 1915 and 1916, with the ten-day clause eliminated, Robert Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federals, said he could not tell whether he would be prepared to fight for Marquard's services.

"I must see the contract first," Ward said. "I am convinced Marquard dealt with me in good faith. In fact, I cannot conceive of anyone making an affidavit, as Marquard did, unless he was in the right. He said that after a full reading of his contract he felt sure the only thing which bound him to the New York club was the release clause."

"Anyway, I can see no difference between this case and that of William Ritter, a player whom we signed last fall. Three days later the Giants signed him to a New York contract, taking advantage of the technicality that he was a few days under age to when he signed one of our contracts."

PLAYERS' EXCHANGE PLAN OF NATIONAL CLUB STAYS.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—While the National League club owners at their annual meeting here on Tuesday were discussing questions of policy and making plans to fight the new Federal League, their managers, according to advance notices, will establish an exchange for players that will result in some of the biggest deals in the history of the older organization.

Several managers, it is reported, are on their way with instructions to bid high for players needed to make penning-containing teams. Miller Huggins, new manager of the St. Louis

GRIFFITH FIGHTS JOHNSON'S MOVE

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Plans were under consideration by Manager Clark Griffith and other officials of the Washington American League baseball club here today for preventing Walter Johnson, the club's star pitcher, from carrying off the terms of his contract, which he signed yesterday with the Chicago Federal League club. The defection of Johnson would leave the Washington club without a single veteran pitcher on its roster.

Johnson last year received $12,000 for his services to the Washington club, and Manager Griffith claims that $2500 of this sum was paid him as an option on his services for the coming season.

"The best legal talent in the country examined Walter Johnson's 1914 contract with the Washington league team and advised us that the star pitcher was free to go to any club he wanted to, but if the Washington club insists upon spending money for litigation we will meet them. Johnson will play with the Chicago Federal League team next year instead of the year after as his contract with us is legal and will stand every test."

"We would prefer not to go to court about it, but if the Washington club insists upon spending money for litigation we will meet them. Johnson will play with the Chicago Federal League team next year instead of the year after as his contract with us is legal and will stand every test."

The New York State League has lost another Sunday ball fight, a court at Scranton having decided that the blue laws of 1794 still are in effect and that Sunday balls are under the ban. Last summer an attempt was made to play Sunday baseball to test the law, and the players were arrested. The case was taken through the courts and the decision announced. There still is a chance to fight the decision in a higher court and it may be carried off.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The strident opposition of the faculty representatives to the intercollegiate conference, "ing nine," will result in a measure designed to limit the time a student spends on athletics by permitting his participation in only two branches.

The rule was proposed at the spring meeting of the Faculty Committee on the conference by-laws prior to its rejection by only one student in becoming law, as was proposed by a majority vote at a recent meeting. Two universities rejected the measure.

OMONIA CLOSES FOOTBALL SEASON.

LAURENTON, Dec. 4.—George Thompson of this city tonight won on a foul from Danny Lyons in round two. The boys slugged willingly in the first with honor even. Lyons dropped the ball and was ruled out of order, but Thompson did not take the point of the foul. Lyons hit low several times and was warned. Finally he hit low twice, and Referee Solly Burns stopped the game, awarding the fight to Thompson.

It appeared intentional. In his dressing-room, Thompson exhibited a badly dented cup. It was a great while it lasted.

In the preliminaries Little Joe and K. Julian slugged six rounds to a draw. Herb Thompson won over Jack Gordon on a foul in the seventh round.

HUDSON (Wis.) Dec. 4.—Mike Gibbons was returned a winner over Bob Moha in the second round of their scheduled ten-round bout here tonight, when Referee George Duffy disqualifies the Cave Man for fouling. Moha apparently deliberately fouled Referee Duffy and Commissioner William Hart of Eulalie both concurring that the Milwaukee boxer had fouled.

The second round of the boxing match was a keen contest between the boxing fans. They had prepared themselves for a knockout, as Gibbons up to the time of the foul, had the Caveman at his mercy.

BIBLE STORY OF PHAEDRUS.

Where did the Apostles Get Their Information?

Union of Two Presbyterian Churches Revived.

Bible Worker Calls for New Crop of Mothers.

BY A. M. ROW, CHURCH EDITOR.

No story published since the appearance of "Quo Vadis" has attracted the attention of Bible students that is sure to fall to the lot of "The Story of Phaedrus," the latest book by Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn. In time it will be read and discussed by practically every student of Biblical history, as a plausible and entertaining theory seeking to establish the unknown source from which the apostle biographers of Jesus secured their information. It is a fascinating vision, told in the plain yet illuminating language of a gifted writer and scholar.

Phaedrus, gifted son of a wealthy father living at Ephesus, was seized by Ximenes when the Roman governor confiscated the estate of his father. Ximenes had denied that his unusual educational qualifications of the boy he installed him in the official mansion as private secretary, holding him in service as a slave.

For two years Phaedrus endured his slavery with outward equanimity, but inwardly he longed for freedom. Learned but knowing nothing of Christianity, the boy's friendship was sought by Simonides, a trusted old slave of Ximenes, who had secretly espoused Christianity, and by him taken to the house of an old wheat merchant, and there Phaedrus heard first of one Jesus, whose thrilling words were read from a priceless papyrus roll.

What the boy heard could not be forgotten, and the gold coins contributed for the spread of the good tidings he was seized with an uncontrollable desire to escape from the clutches of Ximenes. In the intense darkness of the early morning, the worshippers gently glided from the dimly-lit church to scatter to their homes. Phaedrus delayed so as to be the last to depart. He took the rich cloak of the merchant and threw it about his shoulders. Several years ago, and as far as can be learned from the book of Phaedrus, he had no official authority, they have taken no action.

The movement naturally starts with Immanuel Church. Dr. John Ballou, pastor, is awaiting his arrival. The church, which is the largest in Central Presbyterian Church was up for discussion in Immanuel Church on Wednesday evening, and those present again voted their approval of the plan. Central Church opposed the movement, and there is a strong desire on the part of the members to have the new headquarters be opened January 1 at Eighth and Los Angeles streets, where a wood yard will be run in connection with the work.

Miss Essie Smith, leader among the classes for high school girls, made a special address to the school organization for Bible study, organized classes for Bible study, organized among girls of each of the high schools of Los Angeles, as well as in seven surrounding towns.

A PASTOR COMES BACK.

ACCEPTS CALL TO WILSHIRE.

It will be interesting information to many church people of this city to know that Rev. Jesse P. McKnight has accepted a call to the pastorate of Wilshire-boulevard Christian Church, which vacates but two weeks.

Mr. McKnight will speak tomorrow evening on "Elshai the Quiet, Efficient Man," and at night on "Matrimonial Mistakes as Revealed in the Divorce Court." The choir will give a special musical program this evening and there will be other attractive musical features at both services.

At Immanuel Church, Dr. John Ballou, pastor, will preach tomorrow morning on "Left and Right-hearted Men." "Tightening the Buckles." At the after-service in the evening, converts of Union Rescue Mission will speak and Mrs. Berne S. Barker of Chicago will sing.

At Central Church, Dr. Prichard will present in the morning on "The Resurrection of Jesus." In the evening, and in the evening on "There Is No Respect of Persons with God."

SHOW LOYALTY
IN GAY EVENT.Germans Frolic at Kirmess
for Relief Benefit.Pageantry and Folk Dancing Notable Features.Teuton Landmarks Stand in Shrine Auditorium.

The loyalty of members of the local German colony to the fatherland, now in the distress of war, was forcefully demonstrated last night by their liberal patronage of the Christmas Kirmess, which opened in the afternoon at Shrine Auditorium, under the auspices of the German-Austrian-Hungarian Relief Society of Southern California. The historical pageant and other typical German features pleased a large crowd.

The success of the opening day induced the management to continue the festival tomorrow, one day longer than at first announced. A committee began at once to plan a number of new features for the closing day.

The musical programme was given last night and will be repeated this afternoon and tonight.

At 8:15—Hungarian dance—by Miss Norma Gould and her group of trained dancers. Miss Dorothy Ladd, Ethel the Wurzell, Maxine Capron and Maudie Vosburg King, Channing Follette, Fred Leyman and Jack Ballentine.

At 8:45—Chorus and dance of gypsies. Miss F. C. Beach, Jessie Chapin, Cohen, Davis, Wanda Gee, Elena Kohn, Mrs. Charles J. Lick, Sally Mason, Frances Maxon, Isabell Montague, Nedra Maxon, Frieda Payne, C. P. Post, J. Fattes, Ines Seiler and Mrs. Phil Zucklein.

At 9:15—Historical pageant.

At 9:45—Hungarian village. Music by the Hungarian Gypsy Band. Dancers, Jessie Chapin, Lee Donahue, Adelaide Gosnell and Ida Seily.

The historical pageant, reproducing famous characters from German literature, legend and history, was the most popular feature of the evening. Following were the principal characters and the names of the persons representing them:

Germany—Mrs. E. Kastel, Brunhilde; Mrs. Villa Elise, Lohengrin; Dr. W. E. Maybey, Tannhauser; Fred McPherson: Siegfried, Adolf Miller; Parsifal, Oscar Nissen; Mozart, Edgar K. Keller; Martin Luther, Paul Marion; Goethe, George Marion Cole; Schiller, Joseph J. Fattes; Werner, Ernst Seiler, and Bismarck, Ernst Pfeiffer.

Several of the famous old landmarks of Germany were faithfully reproduced. The noted bridge of old Heidelberg, around which centers the ancient legend of the dwarf who climbed inside and drank the beverage, was a prominent feature. Pretzel, sausages and other Germanic pastry were sold at the Vienna Court. The Berlin gardens and the famous old Nuremberg tavern also appeared in realistic form.

Hungarian types in bright costume and danced from booth to booth. An interesting vaudeville programme was given on the auditorium stage. The center space in the building was reserved for dancing. The folk dances of the country were represented formed an interesting feature.

FOIST INFERIOR
SYSTEM ON CITY?ENGINEER ATTACKS PLANS FOR NEW FIRE AND POLICE
TELEGRAPH.

That "devious and subtle agencies" are "again" employed to trick the city into the proposed installation of costly and unnecessary equipment for a new fire and police telegraph system is the charge made by N. Banks Cregier, engineer of the Kregier Signal Company, which had a system in use in the University district for several years.

This charge is made in a communication to the Public Safety Committee of the City Council, delivered yesterday. Mr. Cregier says in part:

"The City of Los Angeles has engrossed in the construction of public improvements of such magnitude that the very name of this city suggests to the world mind the ultimate, if not present, goal which is fire which is as amazing as it is unnecessary. Except in the University district the lives and property of the citizens of this city have been for four years dependent for their safety on a system of fire alarm protection not only inadequate but entirely obsolete. The methods employed in unloading over-priced fire alarms appliances on the city at this very moment on trial in the courts."

There is every evidence that devious and subtle agencies are again being employed to trick the city into a situation of additional installations of these costly appliances and an unnecessary construction cost of at least $200,000.

The object of this communication is to have the Public Safety Commission apprise of certain facts and protest against the recent "general specifications" submitted for the installation of fire and police telegraph systems for the city of Los Angeles, on plans and specifications prepared by R. H. MacLean, City Electrician, and Lewis Degen, electrical engineer. It is not conceivable that the Public Safety Commission, after mature deliberation, can be led into, much less accept, the entire without seeing upon John W. Snowden, chairman, Archie J. Eley, Chief of the Fire Department, and C. E. Sebastian, Chief of the Police Department, as lay members of this committee.

This statement is made after years of experience in observation of the sinuous methods employed in attempting to trick the commissioners in this city, that it is the result of a course of efforts to influence the city by a ruse to opening the way to foist additional exorbitantly-priced appliances on the city.

Excellent for Stomach Trouble
"Chamberlain's Tablets are just fine for stomach trouble," writes Mrs. G. C. Dunn, Arnold, Pa. "I was bothered with this complaint for some time and frequently had bilious attacks. Chamberlain's Tablets afforded me great relief from the gripes and since taking one bottle of them I feel like a different person." (Advertisement.)

to call on his parents, something that not even the boys in the lower grades have ever asked, as a matter of pride in themselves.

"After he had talked to his mother, I called up and endeavored to explain, but, after a curt demand for the release of the youth, was cut off. I thought little more of the matter until four large and hulking plainclothes officers appeared at my school yesterday morning demanding an explanation. In the past, when I have called for a single officer, I have had a difficult matter getting him, but here were four of them on what I consider to be the part of the teachers as well as myself."

"The affair was thoroughly explained and they went away. When I heard that my fellow-clergyman had sworn to a warrant for my arrest, I called up and had the matter up with Bishop Johnson and believe that a thrashing-out of the affair will redound to the credit of the school, as well as prove an entire vindication of the teachers as well as myself."

Mr. Gooden, a small and unassuming man, was heartbroken over the affair. He declared that it was not so much the punishment that he was attached to it, but because of what he called the un-Christian attitude assumed by his fellow-clergyman. As for the status of physical punishment in the public school, he said he limited it. "We have never applied the paddle to any day scholar, save after consultation with his parents. It occasionally becomes absolutely necessary for corrective purposes unless we decide to send the boy home."

SATURDAY MORNING.

Investigation.
LIMELIGHT FOR SCHOOL MORALS.
Committee Named to Take up Withdrawn Charges.

Social Worker's Words Stir Protests and Action.

Unwarranted, Inexcusable," Says Superintendent.

Despite the announcement of Mrs. Berthold Baruch, vice-president of the Los Angeles Society of Public Hygiene and a member of the City Mother's Bureau, that she will not press the charges she made against the public schools in which she can a reflection upon the morality of more than 30,000 girls and boys, but has been thoroughly investigated. Principal Housh of the Los Angeles High School yesterday named the committee to take up the work and Mrs. S. M. St. John, Superintendent of Schools, who is chairman of the committee, is preparing to make the investigation most complete. Mr. Francis, Principal Housh and all the teachers employed in the various schools of the city, feel that infinite harm has been done to the institutions and the city by Mrs. Baruch's charges, and are not satisfied to let a matter of such grave importance remain unanswered and have determined to do all the facts. None of the instructors deny there may be some immorality in the schools, but they insist that more is standard in the Los Angeles schools than in the best schools in the United States and they do not fear the results of a full investigation.

"I am thoroughly opposed to bucking," said Mr. Francis. "It is better to do any good to the body politic. I have constructive, rather than destructive methods, should be employed in the operation of any institution, especially one that tries in connection with the schools of a city."

CHARGES UNWARRANTED.
Mr. Francis made the following comment last night:

"Persons holding public office and account of that having access to public prints should exercise extreme care in statements they make either privately or publicly.

"I regard the charges made against the morality of the public schools of this city to have been unwarranted and unfounded. Not only is there a reflection on every child attending the schools or of adolescent age, but they have done incalculable damage to the reputation of the city. The person who is not in full possession of the facts. In case of an institution as important as the public schools, such charges should not be made even though they could be substantiated. The investigation has first used every effort possible to correct the evils complained of."

A REAL OFFICIAL NOW.
Commission Arrives from Governor to Temporary Presiding Judge of Appeals Court.

Mr. W. Middlecoff, who at the former election was chosen for the office of presiding judge of the State Court of Appeal, received yesterday from Gov. Johnson his commission had been signed and will likely receive it today or tomorrow.

There has never been any disposition on the part of Judges James and the way to Mr. Middlecoff to officially certify as the presiding judge of the State Court, but they did object to his assumption of authority when he had a commission that must be issued to officials before they assume office. Middlecoff took the oath, however, and was then permitted to go to work. He will hold the post of presiding judge until January 1, when Mr. Conrey, who was appointed by Gov. Johnson to take the temporary term of Judge Matthew A. Alm, or until the late election, will assume his present post and hold it for the term of twelve years, a full legal term.

HELEN WILLIAMS HERE TO DISCUSS PLANS OF ACTION.

Mr. Helen K. Williams of San Francisco is in the city for a few days, discussing with clubwomen and the general ideas of legislation that will be sought by the women of California at the coming session of the Legislature.

Williams is one of the most active and influential clubwomen in the State and has close touch with the feminine. She presented the San Francisco Citizen, a journal of wide circulation, and has figured in many important and effective crusades to achieve reforms along various lines.

Williams was a candidate for nomination for Lieutenant-Governor at the August primaries, running as a Republican, and her popularity was attested by the fact that she received the highest cast for any Republican candidate for that office.

Williams says the women of California are making the most important and amendments at the present time of the Legislature and when necessary, she says, she will sacrafice and do all she can in convincing the lawmakers.

Funeral Services Held for Solicitor Who Died of Injuries Sustained in Motor Accident.

Funeral services over the remains of Charles F. Bauer, a solicitor for The TIMES, who died Monday as a result of injuries caused by an automobile-motorcycle accident, were conducted yesterday at the Overholzer parlors. Interment was at Inglenook Cemetery.

Williams was a resident of the hotel, the boy who was visiting the San Francocon. He had been a resident of Los Angeles for the past three years. Mr. Bauer was one of the most popular members of the bar.

Beside the widow Bauer leaves a father, Charles D. Bauer of Pueblo, Colo., and two brothers and four sisters living in the East.

MILLION-DOLLAR ACHIEVEMENT.

PRESIDENT BLAISDELL TO TELL A COLLEGE STORY.

But Three Weeks Left to Complete Pomona's Great Fund and Secure a Gift from the East—Warren F. Day Memorial—Pomona and its President.

Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Pomona College, will occupy the pulpit of the First Congregational Church tomorrow morning and will tell the story of a great educational achievement. He is one of the eloquent preachers of this Coast, and well worth hearing.

About three years ago Dr. Blaisdell, then less than two years president of the college, took up the heroic task of raising $1,000,000 for the endowment of that institution by January 1, 1915. That he has practically completed the task must be regarded as one of the great achievements of a modern wizard of finance.

One of the movements inaugurated to swell the fund and at the same time to honor one of the staunchest and most influential friends of the college, was the launching of the $50,000 Warren F. Day memorial last Friday. It is the intention of the trustees to have the entire sum available for the endowment of the college by January 1, 1915.

Dr. Blaisdell, president of the college, will tell the story of the great financial scheme should be first told from the pulpit which Dr. Day occupied for almost twenty years, through the formative history of the college.

One of the first steps of President Blaisdell was to urge a contribution to the $1,000,000 fund by the educational board of the Congregational Church. He secured the services of the $150,000. It had a string to it that to some men would have resembled a steel cable, but it looked like a rope of sand to this financier. The string of sand that the $150,000 will raise only as the first step necessary to complete $1,000,000. This left the college to raise $950,000, including a debt of $100,000 which they were required to liquidate that the million dollar endowment might be complete.

Brokers' notes or memorandums of sale, including stocks, bonds, real estate, etc., were used.

Certificates of profits of corporations, etc., and transfers thereof, face value, each $100—2 cents.

Chewing gum, each container of actual value of not more than $1 retail—4 cents.

Commercial brokers and commissions brokers—$10.

Deeds of realty transfers, mortgages excepted, when equity exceeds $100 and up to $500—5 cents.

Deed of paper and real estate, including liquor for every barrel of not more than thirty-one gallons (other quantities proportionate)—$1.50.

A HUNDRED DOLLARS TAKEN BY SNEAK THIEVES.

Papoose Tribe has One of Most Profitable Days Recorded Here. No One in Any Instance to Who Sold Clothes, Watches, Jewelry and Many White Owners Were Away.

Jewelry of every description late yesterday afternoon and early last night was looted from seven residences throughout the city. Operating with the aid of pass keys, thieves entered the houses while the owners were away, and on each occasion escaped with jewels or money. The burglars were not seen at any of the houses entered and left no clews by which the police could trace them.

Amounting to nearly $4000 in the amount of the police department, formed one of the largest days work ever on record for police thieves. Out of the $600 only $15 was taken in money, and the largest amount taken to about $400 was in jewels.

Henry Aka, a Japanese of No. 1256 Orange street, was the first to report his loss to the police. While Aka was away from his rooms during the early evening, someone entered the house and took his coat and key and his wardrobe. The thief also took a watch and $15 in cash.

The house contained five dollars' worth of jewelry, including watches, small steinkopf, lockets and necklaces were stolen from Norton C. Wells, No. 1207 West Third street, during the day. The losses discovered early in the day, however, were not made by the family upon their return from a trip to one of the houses. The thief entered the house by means of the rear door, using a pocket knife.

Dr. G. A. Henry of No. 622 August street reported to the police the loss of a brooch valued at $75. How the brooch was taken, Mrs. Henry was unable to tell.

Miss P. H. Elshaefer of No. 1065 West Sixth street discovered and reported the loss of a gold watch and several rings. Her door had been broken in and the key was lost by the thief.

After a day in Los Angeles, A. E. Wilson of San Gabriel returned to his home to find that his door had been broken in and his coat and a number of jewelry taken. His son, Mr. Wilbur, informed the police, he about $25. The thieves were found to have entered the house through a window and the door was never had forced.

Mrs. M. Donnelly of No. 128 West Broadway street rushed to the police and reported that her handbag had been taken out of $100 and her purse while she was standing in a room at Fifth and Hill streets during the early evening. The bag, according to Mrs. Donnelly, was taken by one, but left hanging on a chair.

Life's Gentler Side—Society, Music, Song and the Dance—The Theater.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

ONE of the delightful small affairs of the week was the luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Albert Olovich of No. 952 Arapahoe street in the bedroom of the Sierra Madre Club. The table was a mass of Killarney roses, while the place cards were daintily hand-painted Parisian maidens attired in the most modish of modern creations. After the luncheon, Mrs. Olovich's guests attended the Orpheum. Those present were Mrs. Ralph Hart, Mrs. Louis Ries, Mr. Edward Zobelski, Mrs. Jack Hammer, Mrs. T. L. Stansforth, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. William Metager and Mrs. John Prinsen.

Kermis Ends Tonight.

The Kermis given by the Woman's Club of Hollywood, under the direction of Mrs. Murray Russell, will close tonight with a dance and general social evening. Both the old and new dances will be enjoyed and a large attendance is expected.

Second Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Bowser, No. 1326 Forty-eighth street, last Monday evening was daintily decorated with flowers in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alta Ruby, to Errol Knight of the Bravo. Rev. Mr. Taylor of the Bulldog Methodist Church officiated. The bride was dressed in a white gown and shawl with an overdrift of lace. Miss Clarice Cord attended the bride as maid of honor, and Perry Knight served as best man.

Silver Anniversary.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Schmitz of Olympic Park was recently the scene of a happy celebration in honor of the silver anniversary of their wedding. Pretty decorations added to the pleasantness of the occasion. About eight intimate friends were present and all joined in congratulations and best wishes for the continued happiness of the bride and groom of twenty-five years ago.

Reception and Dance.

Queen Alexandra's birthday was celebrated with a large reception and musicals, followed by a dance at the Hotel Westmoore Wednesday evening. The affair was given in honor of Queen Alexandra by the State Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire. The receptionists included Mrs. A. MacArthur, chairman of the reception; Mrs. Gerald Ward, regent of the chapter; Mrs. A. T. McCord, Mrs. A. E. Wells and Mrs. Fred Winstanley. The decorations were in green and yellow with pink carnations, American and British flags.

Six o'clock Dinner.

Mrs. O. T. Flood of East Fifty-second place was the charming hostess of a six o'clock dinner recently at Hotel Clark. Eleven enjoyed her hospitality.

REFRESHING. NEUHAUS GENIUS SHOWS ON IVORY. UNIQUE PROGRAMME DEFINES PLEASEING PURPOSE.

List of Music Never Lost, Though Expression is Given Full Range. Blending of German and Hungarian Temperaments Fixes Individuality of Style.

Estella Neuhaus presented a programme at the Little Theater yesterday afternoon which not only singles her as a pianist of rare natural and technical ability, but also as a concert arrangement. It was different, purposeful and, to a certain extent, unique.

As for the lady herself, she is a master of the keyboard, poetic in degree in her expression, yet with a touch of dominance that gives a body of volume to even her lightest passages, without detracting one whit from the grace of the line.

Neuhaus styles herself Hungarian and German, which doubtless explains her unusual style. It accounts in a measure, too, for the arrangement of her programme, in which the Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 13 and Kiel's "Slavonian Cradle Song" are coupled with bits from Debussy, Chopin and Cui.

Seldom heard here, and thus doubly attractive, was Balakirev's "Islamay." It is Russian, yet Oriental, eerie and weird.

J. Howe Clifford added mightily to the programme with his readings. He is a lecturer of repute and a proved valuable segment of the afternoon's recital.

OUT OF CAPTIVITY.

Three Anglo-American Hunters Who Were Detained by Villa Troops as Spies, Return Safely.

Dr. S. W. Mellon, Dr. G. H. Mellon and James F. Ogden, members of the hunting party that was detained by the Villa forces in Mexico near the Russian village of Bada, have returned to Los Angeles, where they had gone to Ensenada, where they made headquarters for their trip.

"Going out from Ensenada in our motor car, we could get to the hunting ground in a short time," said Dr. S. W. Mellon yesterday. "We had luck with the deer, but not with the wild and mountain lions. Also the fishing was splendid. We were returning after a most successful trip when we were stopped by the Villa commandos. The men of the commandos and heard of their methods of handling suspects, we feared trouble of the most serious kind. Instead, they extended us every courtesy. We were fed the very best and given every liberty consistent with commanding with the army. When we reached the boundary line we were released."

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY AGNES THURNAU.

New movements in life bring new movements in art. As might be expected, the great sex quake that rocked the world for ten years, until the war in Europe obscured it from the horizon of things, brought corresponding upheavals in art. The militant suffragette ushered in the artists and feminists expression in art of what was felt in life. These schools, while tacitly adopting as their slogan, "scorn woman," are but trying to do the Velasquez and Michelangelo of the past. They are trying to do the Aquitaine. It is the same force manifesting differently in different places. Rebellion is in the air. Rebellion against the established order of society. The militant and immediate rebellion is very unevenly, it is always so with rebellion. Nothing this side of hell looks worse than a militant suffragette in action, unless it is one of the Welsh, rarefied, nubile, and aristocratic. On Chantilly, like "Alice Descending the Staircase." That thing looks like a bunch of shingles falling off a roof. A suffragette on the way to jail looks like a fand. Sometimes she is pretty close to the other, and sometimes she is not. The Rokke "Venus" was no more vanalistic than the attempted destruction of the artistic ideals of the world by the new schools. One succeeds where the other failed. The former is impulsive in basis of the action. Defensibility? That depends upon the point of view. Both are revolution and revolution is never defensible until it is successful.

Reckless, the dynamic force which is manifesting as militarism in London, insurrection in art, war in Europe, unless throughout this whole world, something radiant and dazzlingly beautiful is being born. These schools, while tacitly adopting as their slogan, "scorn woman," are but trying to do the Velasquez and Michelangelo of the past. The militant suffragette is the artist's and the world's last fact. Let's face them. While we may deplore the errors, failures and suffering incident to the crushing of certain forms of life and art, we know that all growth is based on the destruction of what is found in the new and finer ones. May the militiaman abroad in the world is cosmic. Back of it all will something wonderful come to the human race. It is on the way. Let's face them. ## PASTORS WINK UNSEEING EYES.

Will Overlook Flashing of Knitting Needles.

Women Plan Church Sexing Bees for Sunday.

"Sabbath was Made for Man, Quotes Minister.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

PARADISE, Dec. 5.—In at least two churches tomorrow the click-clack of knitting needles in the hands of women in the pews will accompany the sermons the minister will preach. While the pastors are composing fabric of religion for the souls of his flock, the women will be fashioning garments of wool for the chilled limbs of the suffering European soldiers.

The pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pasadena, the most illustrious of the city, is one of the most lovable girls in Pasadena. The first to respond to her call was Mrs. William Stewart McCay, who will take her knitting to the church tomorrow and who invites her friends to join her.

"I do not urge this because I wish to be sensational or because I desire to create an innovation in church. I do it because I think it right, because I wish to impress everyone with the need of devoting every spare moment to making warm garments for the millions of soldiers, many of whom are perishing from cold."

When asked last night if he would object to the women knitting in church, Dr. Robert Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, said he had no objections in the church. The only thing he was afraid of was that the zeal to give comfort to the body, they might neglect the finer things of life. However, he declared he did not object, and they can bring their knitting to his church, in his buggy. The boy was struck by the buggy to the ground.

"We're I in Europe," said Dr. Freeman. "I would urge the women of my congregation to come to church with their knitting; and, sympathizing as I do with the women here by such a noble woman as Miss Fowle, I shall certainly not object to it here."

SABBATH FOR MEN.

Dr. Leslie Learned, pastor of All Saints' Episcopal Church, expressed his views on the subject when he quoted a passage from the Bible. He said, "You know, when the Jews came to the Christ for picking corn on the Sabbath, he replied by saying, 'man was not made for the Sabbath, but the Sabbath was made for man.'"

The women who have started the knitting during the war have been inspired directly from God. It is only fitting that it be begun in His house.

Since the printing of the stories in The Times Mrs. McCay and Mrs. R. R. Ladd, the wife of the president of the local Red Cross Society, and some of women have expressed their intentions of devoting every spare moment in knitting and crocheting for the soldiers. And this feeling is not confined merely to the women, for the leisure class, but even the maid of several households have asked to be interested in the State and national organization.

T. W. Mather and Herman R. Herter, two young merchants, employed teachers who will instruct the unskilled women of Pasadena how to knit and crochet. Classes will meet on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Mrs. McCay is anxious that the woolen mills take up the good cause and knit garments for the soldiers. She says that in the East they are already busy. Dr. Ross Englemann and the wife and daughter of Dr. Brookes are also very much interested in the knitting movement.

CITY BRIEFS.

Having pleaded guilty in the Police Court Thursday of violating the liquor ordinance, Milton H. Francis, proprietor of the Creamery Cafe at No. 55 South Park Avenue, and his 11-year-old son, Howard, appeared at the law office of the City Commission. Deputy City Attorney James H. Howard stated that from the evidence gathered at the hearing that the defense had been source of much trouble, and an advance to the police and that Francis was not the proper person to continue with a liquor license.

Santa Barbara, the Christmas holidays are mindful of the fact that the bird catches the worm," half a dozen children of Pasadena have already addressed letters to "Santa Claus, North Pole." If people with a charitable inclination will send the letters to play Santa Claus to the poor children, Postmaster McLain says they may do so, otherwise the letters and post cards must be forwarded to Garden Grove over irrigation roads.

HIT BY MOTOR.

Frank Callahan, aged 8, son of James H. Callahan, a West Fifth street ranchman, was run over by a motorcycle ridden by a man named Farmer, who was driving at a high rate of speed. The boy was thrown fifteen feet, and is suffering from concussion of the brain caused by a blow back of the ear. Frank was on his way to the Boley school when Lyman Burrier called to him to ride in his buggy. The boy was struck by the buggy to the ground.

The Supervisors have come back to the challenge to the jurors to be more specific. "We have done wrong anywhere point it out—don't grant; and if someone has prevented the grand jury from meeting and hampered its work, point out the guilty party. The deft flung back by the board.

The Supervisors will also meet Monday and be on hand to face the music. In the meantime interest grows in the delving of the facts, which will reveal the full story.

The first genuine searching inquiry ever made public in this country.

PRESIDENT'S RECEIPTION.

This city will invite the Southland to its reception to President Woodrow Wilson and the combined fleets next month if an invitation wired to the President to visit this city is accepted.

Upon the fate of the invitation depends the nature of the spring festival.

COLTON, Dec. 4.—Lying unconscious for five hours in the rear of an old building after he had been attacked and beaten by two tramps was the experience yesterday of W. L. Farmer, en route to the Gemini plant. Farmer stated to the police in this building he was a workshop and storing place for his carpenter tools, at 6 o'clock in the morning. Two men were in possession of the back room and refused to move. Striking him with a piece of lead, they rifled his pockets of about $10 and fled. As it was near 11 o'clock Farmer regained his senses, his assailants had ample time to make a hasty get away over-run with tramps, but this is the first instance of an assault.

Report, 1914, by C. M. Kerr, New York.

On one day in November, two manufacturers visited a banking house in New York. One of them manufactured a product, the material of which came from Austria. The other manufacturer had a large number of saddles. In the course of the day, both men were getting along fairly well, the first man's product being slightly better than the second. Business had been dull, normally, with little news of the war.

In November the manufacturer of products was willing to confess that he had been unable to sell his product, and he did not know which way to turn to revive it unless he could get his plant busy again.

In December the manufacturer of products was able to resume the importation of his raw material. The manufacturer of saddles, on the contrary, had to wait for a good market for his product at its maximum capacity, and he did not know which way to turn to revive it unless he could get his plant busy again.

At the City Hall.

ELECTION CALL
YET UNISSUED.TWO COUNCIL MEMBERS BLOCK
THE ORDINANCE.

Suspension of Rules Requires
Unanimous Consent, so Final Action Goes Over One Week—Belkouski and Snowden Remain Firm in Their Opposition.

Councilmen Belkouski and Snowden yesterday prevented the passage by the City Council of the ordinance calling for a special election on December 21 on the proposed charter amendments. "Filibusters" is the term applied to these two members by their colleagues yesterday.

"We are consistent" was the reply of the Councilmen, who would not be forced into line when it was proposed to vote upon the suspension of the rules so that the election ordinance might be adopted upon its first presentation.

The Council met in adjourned session in the afternoon and the City Attorney presented the election ordinance. A unanimous vote of the Council is required to suspend the rules and adopt an ordinance, and if any member objects the ordinance has to go over for one week.

When the motion was made to suspend the rules Councilman Belkouski immediately took the floor.

"I feel that I cannot vote for this measure," said he, "as I feel it my duty to go out and work as earnestly as possible and work for the amendment. It would not be consistent for me to vote now for the calling of an election, and then have to go out and make explanations. I propose to be consistent in this matter all the way through. I cannot vote now, nor at any other time, for the measure."

Councilman Snowden took the same position.

"I do not believe the people of Los Angeles want another election this year. Some of the members of this Council are trying to 'kill' themselves into the belief that these amendments will carry, but I am more firmly convinced than ever before that the amendment will not pass unless the Councilmen left the sheer wireness, with the threat that unless a radical change takes place the Council itself will take the entire subject up and straighten it out, so that there would be no further delays in the matter."

At the conclusion of the discussion both sides to the controversy—the plural is used advisedly—were of the opinion that a new vote was due to definite and prompt action. There were smiles all round—but the snicker was half safely within reach.

MUNICIPALOGRAMS
AND ABOUT THE HALL.

A petition has been filed with the City Council that the part of Hewitt street be re-established as it existed before changed to Fourth street. The City Engineer has been asked to make a recommendation.

The Los Angeles Horse Owners' Protection Association has asked the City Council to take action for the restoration of the old driveway along the west bank of the Los Angeles River and north of Seventh street.

The Council has been referred to the Public Works Committee.

Councilman and others have petitioned the Council to except the block between Nos. 397 and 406 South Geiss street from the residence district so no devotee may be disturbed there.

The California Real Estate and Building Company has been granted permission by the City Council to sewer by private contract Berendo and Melrose drive from Santa Monica boulevard to Lexington avenue.

Cards and others have asked the Council to pass an ordinance governing the protection of street properties situated at Main and Washington streets, the old Chateau Park properties, as under existing ordinances only "Class A" buildings can be erected there.

The petition was referred to the City Clerk to send out to all voters ten copies of the proposed amendment ten days before the date of the proposed election. The printing and mailing of the petition will cost about $750. The cost of the election will be about $10,000. The election call requires five members of the election board for each precinct, and it is proposed to use the same voting places as those for the last election.

AS PER PROGRAMME,
MOHLER'S JOB HOLDS.

Charles K. Mohler's $200-a-month job as chief engineer of the railroad department of the Board of Public Utilities still holds. The Municipal League has fulfilled its postulations and is paving the way for a further hold of Mr. Mohler on the job that the board at one time declared vacant. He issued the following appeal to the City Council yesterday:

"Concerning the questions involved, we now feel that in our judgment any contemplated action either in the way of an investigation or on the part of the board which would cause any change at this time should be deferred until after the charter amendment election to be held December 21, 1914, as the incorporation of the proposed amendments into our city charter would mean a complete reorganization of the Board of Public Utilities within approximately three months after their adoption. We therefore urge your honorable body to allow present conditions to remain as they are until after the election referred to has been held."

OFFERS FRANCHISE,
FOR MALABA DISTRICT.

The City Council voted yesterday to advertise for sale the proposed franchise for a street line for the Malaba district, Boyle Heights, in accordance with the amended route.

The bond was fixed at $2500, and bids will be opened on December 21. The route is now outlined with start at Broadway and 10th street, avenue thence running on Evergreen avenue to Wabash avenue; thence on Wabash avenue to the easterly city limits.

The franchise is asked for by the Malaba District Improvement Association, which hopes to negotiate with the Los Angeles Railway Corporation for an extension of the yellow line into the district mentioned.

WANT REROUTING.
FOR MANCHESTER CARS.

The interests of the Vermont-Manchester car line made strong appeal before the City Council yesterday for a rerouting of cars on that route so that about fifteen minutes might be saved in reaching the downtown district. They declared that they are now required to travel 28 per cent. further than would be necessary with a direct routing.

After a hearing in which much spirit was manifested, and in which unnecessary delays in action were charged against the Board of Public Utilities, it was decided to refer the entire matter to this board, in conference with officials of the railway and the patrons of the line.

BIG INCREASES
IN PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

In the fiscal year of 1908-1909 the total extent of street improvements in the city was 17,700 miles, and there had been a constant increase from year to year in the extent of improved mileage, and for the fiscal year of 1913-1914 there were improved 70,56 miles.

A sum of $100,000 was filed in the period mentioned with the Board of Public Works yesterday by the City Engineer. This shows that while only 14,704 miles were improved in the fiscal year of 1908-1909, in 1913-1914 there were 34,167 miles improved; in 1910-1911 there were 27,106 miles improved, showing 8.6 percent. of increase; in 1911-1912 there were 58,51 miles improved, showing an increase of 6.31 per cent.; in 1912-1913 there were 65,32 miles improved, an increase of 7.88 per cent., and in 1913-1914 there were 70,56 miles improved, showing an increase of 8.02 per cent.

ARMED PEACE
FOR ATTORNEY AND BOARD.

In the presence of members of the City Council and citizens of Wilmington and San Pedro, the Harbor Commission and City Attorney threatened to sue the district yesterday. The outcome was practically an armed peace, with the declared intention on both sides to do all in their power to forward the interests of the harbor.

The City Attorney declared that great injustice had been done him in charges made by the commission and the latter insisted that it had not been fully received that the presentation of harbor ordinances before the Council. Each side blamed the other for delays in the completion of the long talked of terminal agreement, and there were coded of side mentioned in detail in the report of the Councilman left the sheer wireness, with the threat that unless a radical change takes place the Council itself will take the entire subject up and straighten it out, so that there would be no further delays in the matter.

At the conclusion of the discussion both sides to the controversy—the plural is used advisedly—were of the opinion that a new vote was due to definite and prompt action. There were smiles all round—but the snicker was half safely within reach.

MUNICIPALOGRAMS
AND ABOUT THE HALL.

A petition has been filed with the City Council that the part of Hewitt street be re-established as it existed before changed to Fourth street.

The City Engineer has been referred to the Public Works Committee.

President Whiffen was equally outspoken in his house for the stand that he has taken today.

He said for the ordinance today, as I voted to instruct the City Attorney to prepare the election call. If we were voting on it for the first time today, we would do it differently. We still have ample time to pass the ordinance next week."

Councilman Conwell urged that time is of great importance in the calendar, and that people who are not contributing for Hetch Hetchy and a cause of education while there is uncertainty as to the issuance of the election call.

"We'll have nothing by the week's delay," declared Councilman Snowden. "There's no telling what changes in attitude may take place in the minds of members of this Council before the next week is over."

The vote on suspension of rules was taken and stood seven in favor, and Belkouski and Snowden opposing.

The Council then sent to the Finance Committee a resolution of Councilman Conwell requiring the City Clerk to send out to all voters full copies of the proposed amendments ten days before the date of the proposed election.

The printing and mailing of the proposed amendments will cost about $750. The cost of the election will be about $10,000. The election call requires five members of the election board for each precinct, and it is proposed to use the same voting places as those for the last election.

JUDGMENT IS REVERSED.

The Superior Court has reversed the judgment of Superior Court Judge Conroy, granting a new trial to the Southern Pacific Railway Company, in the action brought by Ida E. Sherwin, executrix of the estate of E. B. Sherwin, against the company for $4500. The trial and verdict were for $4500. After the trial and before appeal was filed, Mr. Sherwin died, and the executrix prosecuted the case. The City Council yesterday passed an ordinance prohibiting children under 8 years of age in any place where there is a high place accompanied by a person to stand by them from climbing the high place.
